PAPERS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HISTORICAL RESEARCH

PREFACE.

Most of the volumes relating to foreign archives, hitherto prepared by the Department of Historical Research in the Carnegie Institution of Washington, have been summary surveys or inventories of the materials for American history, or the history of the United States, contained in the particular archives treated. The present volume belongs to a different class, and of that class it is the first to be issued by the Institution. Therefore some explanation of its relation to the general plans of the Department is appropriate.

In the task of making more available to students of American history the vast stores of materials for that history which are contained in foreign archives, there are three natural stages or processes.

First, there is the summary survey or inventory, in which large masses of papers are represented by brief and often general descriptions, without much effort to enter into details respecting individual volumes or papers.

A second stage is reached when, a summary survey of the contents of an archive having been already supplied, a certain portion or subdivision of it is selected for fuller description. The type of book usually produced by this procedure is that of the calendar, in which each separate letter or other document receives an entry of a line or more, indicating its date, place of origin, author, recipient, title, or such details, with perhaps some brief statement of its contents.

The third stage of procedure is to select a set or series of documents having a high value for some particular purpose of history, and to print them at full length.

It is not usually possible, in practice, to draw hard-and-fast lines between the first and the second of these varieties of procedure or of resulting hand-book. Many books descriptive of archival materials partake of both varieties, and English-speaking scholars have never agreed on any consistent or precise use of terms to designate the different kinds of guides or repertories. There is a broad and general distinction between the survey and the catalogue, but circumstances cause and justify the varying and the mingling of the types. For instance, some series of documents, steadily produced, year after year, by the routine of public administration, may be so uniform in character that they can be sufficiently described in a few lines applicable to all, and that nothing can be gained by doing more, while elsewhere in the same archive, or even in the same subdivision, chance may have brought together a mass of papers so diverse in origin and so miscellaneous in character that nothing short of an itemized list can have any value for the investigator, or would be thought of by an intelligent compiler.

To an organized and endowed institution which approaches the task of exploiting foreign archives for purposes of American history, it is natural to begin with that process which is most fundamental, most extensive in scope, simplest, serviceable to the greatest number and variety of investigators. Therefore this Department of Historical Research undertook, first, to go the rounds of the great national archives of Europe, and of Canada and Mexico, sending qualified scholars to each to make summary surveys of what it contains of unprinted material for the history of America, or of the United States, and publishing the results in volumes the scale of which was roughly proportioned to the amount or importance of the material found in each repository. Thus, four large volumes, prepared by Professor Charles M. Andrews, Dr. Charles O. Paullin, Professor Frederic L. Paxson, and Dr. Frances G. Davenport, have exhibited to the American student, in brief but comprehensive survey, the manuscript treasures, for American history, of the archives of London. Two or three volumes on those of Paris are under preparation by Mr. Waldo G. Leland. Those of Germany have been treated, in a substantial volume, by Professor Marion D. Learned, those of Switzerland and Austria by Professor Albert B. Faust, those of Rome and other Italian capitals by Professor Carl R. Fish, those of Russia by Professor Frank A. Golder, those of Canada by Mr. David W. Parker, those of Mexico by Professor Herbert E. Bolton, those of Cuba by Mr. Luis M. Pérez. A thorough examination of those of the Netherlands had been begun when the present great war opened; and some preparations have been made for the examination of those of the Scandinavian countries, Scotland, Ireland, and the West Indies.

If Spain be added to this list, it will be seen that summary guides to American materials in at least the national or central archives have been published or undertaken in the case of nearly all those foreign countries whose history to any important extent touches that of North America, certainly of all those to which any parts of North America stood in a colonial relation, and which are therefore in an archival sense motherlands of its history. In the process of "first aid" we have in a dozen years nearly made the circuit, and have produced a series of volumes which, whatever the imperfections resulting from preparation in so short a period of time, have at any rate "served the present age" by making known to the existing generation of American historical scholars not less than a hundred thousand documents in foreign archives not hitherto known to their studies. It may fairly be thought appropriate and seasonable to turn now to the exploitation, on a larger scale and by a different method, of some outstanding portions of the mass.

That for this fuller and minuter treatment, after some method falling under the second of the processes described above, choice should be made of some body of papers in the archives of Spain, is due to several reasons. In the first place, the Department's Guide to the Materials for the History of the United States in Spanish Archives (Washington, 1907), prepared by Professor William R. Shepherd in the earliest period of its operations, is the briefest of all its guides to foreign archives, a book of only 107 pages. Yet the three great Spanish archives which the book purports to cover—that of Simancas, the Archivo Histórico Nacional at Madrid, and the Archives of the Indies at Seville—contain enormous quantities of valuable material for American history, certainly more than a million of documents, perhaps more than two millions, the natural product of colonial empire conducted upon a vast scale, with minute attention to detail, and by administrators trained to incessant writing. Colonial empires have sometimes won greater success with less use of the pen; but, whatever the practical results may have been, historical investigators will not quarrel with the Spanish official's ceaseless accumulation of papers. Their main thought will be one of gratulation and contentment, that the system has left infinite riches of material to the present-day student.

To this vast mass of material, moreover, American interest has been strongly directed of late. Since 1898 American students have entered as never before upon the study of Spanish-American history, of the relations between Spain and the United States, and of the history of those parts of our present area—the Louisiana territory, old Florida, California, and the Southwest, a good third of the whole—which once were ruled by Spain. Historical societies and institutions in the states involved, historical departments in their universities—like the Department of Archives and History in the State of Mississippi, or the historical department of the University of California—have interested themselves in the exploitation of Spanish archives and have interested others in the history to which they contribute. That third of the United States that was once under Spain is well awakened to interest in its own past. One might fairly feel confident that a volume describing in detail an important portion of these treasures would be put to good use. Moreover, not only was this department's Guide but a meagre "first aid", but Spain herself has provided little guidance to her archives, few such volumes, for instance, as those of the British Calendars of State Papers; and the materials derived from those archives which the Argentine and other American governments have occasionally published bear little relation to the history of the United States.

Among the various subdivisions of the various Spanish archives, it appeared that the one containing the greatest amount of material interesting to historical students in the United States was, with little question, that section of the Archives of the Indies at Seville entitled "Papeles procedentes de la Isla de Cuba". Accordingly, this section, or that portion of it relating to United States history, was selected for fuller treatment, and Mr. Roscoe R. Hill, qualified by several years' study of Spanish-American history and several years' residence in a Spanish-speaking country, was sent to Seville in January, 1911, to carry out the undertaking. The first plan, framed before Mr. Hill left America and when only very insufficient quantitative information respecting the "Papeles de Cuba" was available, looked toward the preparation of an itemized calendar of all the papers relating to the United States in that section; but when it appeared, after examinations and estimates made upon the spot, that those papers numbered four or five hundred thousand, it was at once seen that such a proposal was entirely impracticable. No one could advocate the printing of fifty volumes of calendar of the "Papeles de Cuba"; the present demands of scholarship do not warrant it. Instead, it was resolved that an ingenious plan devised by Mr. Hill should be followed, resulting in the present Descriptive Catalogue, which it is hoped conveys as much information regarding this great mass of papers from Cuba as can well be conveyed in five hundred pages.

The volume is the product of two years and four months of work in the Archives of the Indies, on the part of Mr. Hill and three or four clerical assistants, from January, 1911, to April, 1913, and of much labor on his part in America since that date. But it is not the sole product of those years and months in Seville; students who may wish for more detailed knowledge of the contents of these legajos (bundles) of papers will be glad to know that, though the preparation and printing of a complete calendar was deemed impracticable, itemized lists of all the papers in 143 legajos selected as the most important, amounting to a brief calendar of some 58,000 documents, were prepared in manuscript, in duplicate, by Mr. Hill and his assistants in Seville, and are preserved in the office of the Department in Washington. There the two sets stand arranged in serial and chronological order respectively, and can be consulted with freedom by historical scholars.

The reader is referred to Mr. Hill's introduction for accounts of the Archives of the Indies, of the "Papeles de Cuba" in particular, of their history, of the present work, of the calendar mentioned above, and of the series of photographs of important documents which increase still further the means for studying American history through these Cuban papers. Indeed, every user of the volume is earnestly requested first to read Mr. Hill's explanatory introduction, that he may use the volume with an intelligent notion as to what it purports to contain.

The index to the volume has been prepared by Mr. David M. Matteson, of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The director of the Department begs leave to add his cordial thanks to those which Mr. Hill has expressed, to all those who have facilitated or assisted the preparation of the work.

INTRODUCTION.

The Archivo General de Indias (Archives of the Indies)¹ is one of the most important collections of materials for colonial history in existence. It comprises about 35,000 legajos (bundles), ranging in size from a few documents or bound volumes to as many as 2000 documents each. They cover in general the whole Spanish colonial period, although the collection is far from being complete, as many documents which really belong here are to be found in Simancas, in the Archivo Historico Nacional at Madrid, and elsewhere.² Orders have been given, however, which ultimately will bring about the removal to Seville of all the documents relating to the Spanish colonial activity.

The Archivo occupies the Casa Lonja, a large rectangular building constructed in the sixteenth century as a merchants' exchange, for those engaged in the India trade. The removal of the Casa de Contratación to Cadiz and the break-up of the Spanish trade monopoly in the eighteenth century left the Lonja unoccupied. When the decision was made to found the Archivo de Indias, no more suitable building or location was available in Spain than the Casa Lonja in Seville.

The Archivo de Indias owes its origin to a suggestion made by Juan Bautista Muñoz, who was commissioned in 1777 to write a Historia General de Indias.³ Muñoz soon discovered the need of uniting the widely scattered documents relating to the history of America, and made the suggestion to the Marqués de Sonora, at that time minister of the Indies, that they be gathered together in Seville. Accordingly Muñoz was commissioned in 1781 by the king to select and prepare for shipment the documents in Simancas relating to America. Later he was empowered to investigate the papers of the Casa de Contratación both in Seville and in Cadiz. Of his work of organization, which was largely completed by 1787, he has left an interesting report.⁴ While the work of selecting the documents was in progress, the Lonja was remodelled to adapt it to archival uses. The papers in Simancas were inventoried and boxed in 1784-1785, and in the latter year were removed to Seville, being the first group of documents to be deposited in the new centre. This consignment, the only one from Simancas, consisted of 253 boxes which started from Simancas on September 20 and 21, in twenty-four carts, and arrived in Seville on October 15, under the guard of two commissioners and an armed escort.⁵

Since that date additions have been made to the Archivo de Indias from time to time. At present the Archivo consists of materials as indicated in the table on page ix.

The division of the documents into the twelve sections listed in this table was made with a view to preserving the identity of the origin in each case. In general, within the sections the papers are arranged topographically and chronologically, although in some instances they are divided by subjects as well. This organization was made in conformity with the rules and regulations laid down in the royal order of January 10, 1790.⁶

The task of making indexes for this vast mass of documents has never been satisfactorily completed. There are manuscript inventories of greater or less merit for each of the sections.⁷ The summary entries of these inventories are now in course of publication in the Boletín del Centro de Estudios Americanistas de Sevilla.⁸

WORK IN THE ARCHIVO DE INDIAS.

No formalities are really necessary to secure permission to work in the Archivo de Indias. Presentation to the Director by some one already working there or by the American consul is in good form, or a letter from the American ambassador at Madrid or the Spanish ambassador in Washington

⁶ Ordenanzas para el Archivo General de Indias (Madrid, en la Imprenta de la Viuda de Ibarra, 1790), reprinted in the Boletín del Instituto de Estudios Americanistas de Sevilla, año I., núm. 3 (Sept., 1913), pp. 29-47. The Ordenanzas are signed by the king and Antonio Porlier. They consist of 94 articles and contain rules for the organization and indexing of the papers, indicate the officials and their duties, and set forth regulations for cleaning, repairs, inspection, copies, loans, and prevention of fires.

⁷ See Shepherd, Guide, pp. 55-95, passim.

may be used as a means of introduction. Entry to the archives having been thus easily secured, a place is assigned to the investigator in the work-room, where he may carry on his studies unmolested. Since the whole of the Lonja has been turned over to the Archivo, numerous improvements have been made in the building, providing for more commodious working quarters than existed during and previous to the residence of the writer in Seville.

In order to secure legajos for examination, it is necessary to fill out a papeleta de pedido (call slip) and present it to the official in charge. The legajo is brought to the desk of the investigator by an attendant. Before receiving another legajo the first must be returned to the attendant.

One of the greatest difficulties that confronts the investigator in the Archivo de Indias is the fact that heretofore no record has been kept of previous investigations. Neither is there in existence anything approaching a complete bibliography of the publications made of documents copied in the archives. These facts have resulted in much useless duplication of work by students. In order to obviate these difficulties and to provide a complete record of the various investigations carried on in the Archivo, a blank (cédula de resultado de investigación) has been devised to preserve a permanent record of the work of each investigator. The blank has spaces for date, name, and nationality of the investigator, subject of investigation, number of the legajo, title on legajo tag, copies made, object of work and use to be made of copies, and an extract of the subject matter. The following is the form of the blank:

The above blank is filled out in duplicate; one copy is placed in the legajo and the other is filed in the office of the Director of the Archivo. The blanks of the latter set are numbered consecutively in chronological order by quarters. They are also classified topographically by subject matter and by the nationality of the investigator.¹⁰

PAPELES PROCEDENTES DE CUBA.

Not the least important of the sections of the Archivo de Indias, and certainly the most valuable single collection deposited there relating to the history of the present area of the United States, is that denominated the "Papeles procedentes de la Isla de Cuba". This collection comprises 2375 legajos and about a million and a quarter individual documents. In accordance with the customary procedure in Spanish archival practice, these papers derive their name from the fact that for a considerable portion of the nineteenth century they formed a part of the Archivo General de Cuba at Havana,¹¹ and were removed thence to Seville.

The decision to transfer this valuable mass of materials to Seville for deposit in the Archivo de Indias was first taken in 1883. The captain general was informed of this fact by a royal order of March 27, but no efforts were made to carry it out. The attention of the captain general was called to the failure to comply with the order by a second order dated January 8, 1884.¹² It was not until four years later, however, that the actual work of the transfer was begun.¹³ In response to the desires of the government at Madrid as expressed in the royal order of April 19, 1888, Nemesio Cornejo de Villarroel, an archivist and lawyer of Madrid, who at the time was in Havana, was commissioned to prepare the documents for shipment and send them to Spain. Within the period from June 25, 1888, to June 25, 1889, thirteen shipments of documents, comprising 2350 legajos, were made from Havana. The last shipment arrived in Seville October 28, 1889.¹⁴

The various shipments of the Papeles de Cuba to the Archivo de Indias were accompanied by check-lists,¹⁵ which Sr. Cornejo made by taking the first entries from the earlier inventories¹⁶ existing in the Archivo General de

ORGANIZATION AND HISTORY.

A study of the Papeles procedentes de Cuba shows that Havana was not the primary point of origin of many of the documents. Their organization reflects the Spanish archival practice which seeks to preserve the identity of the origin of the various groups of papers in any given centre. As a consequence the Papeles de Cuba are found to consist of 23 series, 22 of which were formed in Havana and have their own numeration. These series are now consolidated into one section of the Archivo de Indias and are renumbered Papeles de Cuba 1-2375. The following table shows the various series, their respective numerations, titles, primary origin, general content, and number of legajos containing materials for United States history:

Series no.	A. de I. Numeration: legajos.	Title of series.	Havana series numeration.	Primary origin of papers.	General content of papers.	No. legs. for hist. U. S.

To some extent the above series represent the various removals of documents to Havana from Louisiana, Florida, and elsewhere. There is evidence, however, to show that there was considerable mixing of the different shipments after their arrival in the archives in Havana.

FLORIDA OCCIDENTAL SERIES.

In 1804, by orders¹⁸ of the Spanish commissioners for the transfer of Louisiana, the commandants of the various posts of the province classified and inventoried the documents in their charge. Those relating to property, wills, marriages, and other personal interests of the inhabitants were prepared for transfer to the French and then to the United States.¹⁹

These documents from the governor's office in New Orleans were removed to Pensacola during the years 1804 to 1806. So much delay was experienced in preparing them for transfer that the commandant of Pensacola, Vizente Folch, became impatient and insisted that they be sent at once in order to facilitate the business of his office.²¹ At the time of the arrival of this letter in New Orleans the major part of the documents was ready for shipment in care of Cayetano Valdes.²²

Just when these papers were transferred has not been ascertained, but it is certain that a considerable portion were in Pensacola prior to October 5,

1805.²² Further, all documents which were retained by Spain were removed from New Orleans before the end of January, 1806, when all persons holding commissions from Spain were ordered by Governor Claiborne to leave the province.²³ This removal explains the title Florida Occidental as applied to the papers from the office of the governor of Louisiana, since Pensacola was considered the place of origin when the documents were organized in Havana.²⁵

LUISIANA SERIES.

The papers of the Luisiana series (legajos 488-778), which originated in the various divisions of the department of Real Hacienda of Louisiana, in general were moved to Havana from New Orleans in 1804. In October of that year two shipments of papers were made on the frigate Nuestra Señora de las Nieves. One of these consisted of fifteen boxes, containing 147 legajos of documents from the Contaduría of New Orleans, which were sent to the Tribunal Superior y Real Audiencia de Cuentas de Habana.²⁶ Generally these papers dated to 1798, though some few were as late as 1804.

The other shipment comprised sixteen boxes of documents, dating to 1804, from the Administracion de Reales Rentas (Custom-house) of New Orleans, which were sent to the intendant of Havana.²⁷ These boxes of papers were received by Captain Juan Portas on October 4,²⁸ and delivered by him to the intendant of Havana, Rafael Gomez Rombauid, on November 13.²⁹

In neither case did these shipments comprise the entire archive of the respective offices.³⁰ Also it should be noted that some of these documents are to be found in the Nueva Orleans and Florida Occidental series. The remaining treasury papers were removed ultimately to Pensacola.³¹

The initiative for the transfer of the above-mentioned documents was taken by Juan Ventura Morales, acting intendant of Louisiana, and resulted in a very acrimonious dispute with the commissioner for the transfer of Louisiana, the Marqués de Casa Calvo, as to the respective jurisdictions of the two officials. Morales held that he was acting in conformity with the order of November 21, 1803, issued by the secretary of the treasury, Cayetano Soler.³² On the other hand, Casa Calvo, basing his claim on the royal order of December 18, 1803,³³ was insistent that all matters appertaining to the transfer of Louisiana, including also the disposition of the archives, were subject to his jurisdiction alone.³⁴ The dispute waxed warm and lasted for a considerable time, but meanwhile the papers had gone on their way to Havana.

The treasury papers left in New Orleans at this time were prepared for removal in 1805, upon the order of Morales.³⁵ Before their arrival at their destination these papers suffered many vicissitudes and were the cause of a lively dispute between J. V. Morales and Vizente Folch, the commandant of Pensacola.

These documents were packed in twenty-one boxes and shipped on the schooner *Maria*³⁶ with a naval escort. They were consigned to Juan Francisco Arniaud de Courville, treasurer of Pensacola, with instructions that they should not be touched by anyone.³⁷ At Pasa Christina the Maria and its escort were attacked by an English corsair, but escaped with little injury.³⁸

Folch knew the disputatious character of Morales, and seems to have determined to prevent if possible the latter's arrival in Pensacola. Accordingly, on September 30 Folch offered Mobile as a residence for the officials of the intendency and the fort there as a depository for the archives, as being the "only defensible fortification which the Province has".³⁹ Morales protested against this determination of Folch and insisted that Pensacola was the more suitable location for the intendency and its archives.⁴⁰ Both officials appealed to the captain general at Havana and to the secretary of Hacienda in Madrid. Meanwhile Folch took matters into his own hands and ordered that the twenty-one boxes should be disembarked at Mobile.⁴¹ This of course provoked a new protest from Morales.⁴²

Upon this occasion at least Morales seems to have had the approval of his superiors with respect to his dispute. The Marqués de Someruelos, the captain general, ordered Folch to allow Morales to reside in Pensacola and keep the archives of the commandancy there, as it seemed to be a safe place for them.⁴³ In addition, Soler, the secretary of Hacienda, issued a royal order disapproving the action of Folch and ordering the removal of the papers to Pensacola.⁴⁴ Even to this high authority Folch made an evasive reply. He pointed out that the order had been issued under the misunderstanding that the documents had arrived in Pensacola and had been taken thence to Mobile, and insisted that he would leave the twenty-one boxes in Mobile.⁴⁵ The papers ultimately found their way to Pensacola. Morales, however, did not succeed in taking them with him, for he was already in Pensacola early in 1806,⁴⁶ long before the above-mentioned resolution of Folch. Just when they were removed is not certain, but it is known that they arrived some time before the close of the administration of Mateo González Manrique as commandant of Pensacola (1813-1815).⁴⁷

An echo of the final difficulties of Folch and Morales regarding the archives is found in a royal order of September 24, 1807, in which Folch is ordered to turn over to Morales, at once, such papers and expedientes relating to the department of Hacienda as properly belonged to the intendency.⁴⁸

REMOVALS FROM PENSACOLA TO HAVANA.

The papers belonging to the various offices in Pensacola, which either originated there or were removed thither, were taken to Havana at different times. In 1808 General James Wilkinson had become fearful, because of attacks which were being made upon him,⁴⁹ that something regarding his traitorous relations with Spain might leak out of the Spanish archives at Pensacola. He communicated his fears to Commandant Folch, who assured him that

I believe that you are already well convinced that I have acted in a manner befitting a faithful servant of the honorable Spanish Monarchy and that I have fulfilled sincerely the duties which friendship imposes upon me. I have even done more, since I have sent to the Archives of Havana all that pertains to the previous (antigua) history (a) feeling sure that before the United States shall be in position to conquer that capital, you and I, Jefferson, Madison, with all the secretaries of the different departments, and even the Prophet Daniel (b) himself will have made many day's journeys on the voyage to the other world.⁵⁰

Just how many or what documents were transferred at this time is not known, as no inventory was discovered, and after the removal these were put in their rightful place in the Florida Occidental series, along with the other papers from the archive of the governor of Louisiana.

In the early morning of November 8, 1811, a fire occurred in the house of Juan Francisco Arniaud de Courville, treasurer at Pensacola, which destroyed the papers of that office.⁵¹ This created what is perhaps the most extensive lacuna in the Papeles de Cuba.

For purposes of auditing, documents were sent by the treasury officials of Louisiana and West Florida to the Tribunal de Cuentas and the intendant of Havana, at various times. Sufficient data to give a list of such transmissions are not available. Such a shipment was made on July 12, 1812, when 36 legajos and a number of books, comprising accounts of the treasury of Louisiana for 1802-1805 and of the office for the conclusion of the affairs of Louisiana for 1806-1811, were sent to the Tribunal de Cuentas in Havana in two boxes, numbered 19 and 20, on the packet-boat San Francisco de Borja.⁵² One of the latest shipments of this kind was made early in 1817, when eight boxes of papers were sent from the secretariat of the intendency at Pensacola to Havana, two boxes on the schooner San Luguena and six on the schooner María.⁵³

Several transfers of papers relating to Louisiana and West Florida took place in 1818. In February of that year, J. V. Morales deposited in the intendency of Havana certain important documents, relating especially to his conflicts with other officials, which he had retained in his possession after the close of his administration as acting intendant of West Florida.⁵⁴ Presumably on account of the disturbed conditions in Florida, in May, 1818, the archives of San Marcos de Apalache were deposited in the secretariat of the commandant of Pensacola.⁵⁵

The transfer of the major portion of the documents from Pensacola to Havana took place in the years 1818-1819. In the former year General Andrew Jackson seized Pensacola, and the fifth of the proposals of Commandant José Masot dealt with the subject of the transfer of the archives to Havana, in the following terms:

A competent number of vessels shall be furnished for embarking personal effects, papers, and other property belonging to the commandant, officers, and others in the royal employ, and particularly the papers of the secretary's office of the government existing in Pensacola, those of the department of royal finance, and of the civil and military employs. These papers shall not be subjected to any inspection or recognizance under the pledge of their containing nothing foreign to the functions of the said persons. Approved,—and estimate of the necessary transportation to be furnished agreeably to established usage.⁵⁶

On the following day, May 29, in a proclamation to the citizens, General Jackson stated that "Col. King will take possession of the archeves (sic) of the province and appoint some confidential individual to preserve them. It is all important that the records of titles and property should be carefully secured."⁵⁷

⁵⁶ Proposals for the capitulation of West Florida made by Masot to Jackson. Clipping from a New Orleans newspaper, enclosed in letter of Felipe Fatio, Spanish consul in New Orleans, to Cienfuegos, June 27, 1818, legajo 1900.

In accordance with this arrangement at least two shipments of papers were made. When Masot departed for Havana on June 22 on the schooner Peggy, he took with him seventeen boxes of papers from the offices of the commandancy and of the treasury. The Peggy encountered extremely bad weather and was compelled to put in at Puerto de Sisal (Campeche).⁸⁸ On August 24, Masot started from Campeche with the schooner Peggy and the sloop Washington. Calms and contrary winds were encountered and the vessels became separated. On September 8, the Peggy, which carried Masot and the papers, was attacked and captured by the corsair General Umber (Humbert), under the command of Captain Francisco Ruperto of Buenos Aires. The vessel was sacked, the boxes of documents were broken open, and Masot claimed that many of the papers were thrown into the water.⁸⁹ The Peggy was forced to return to Campeche, where it was found that she was incapable of continuing the voyage.⁹⁰

The boxes of papers were deposited for safe-keeping in the custom-house at Campeche, and it was pointed out that, on account of the dangers of navigation, it would be advisable for a war vessel to be sent to transfer the documents to Havana.⁹¹ Following out this suggestion, Captain General Cienfuegos dispatched his Majesty's schooner the Galga to secure the papers, on January 13, 1819,⁹² and the seventeen boxes were again embarked thereon, January 24.⁹³ A few days later, they were in Havana.

In a letter to J. G. Forbes, Nicolas Mahy, captain general of Cuba, stated that "in the year 1819, there were sent to Havana from West Florida various boxes of papers of the archives of that province, in disorder and without indexes".⁹⁴ This condition of things can easily be accounted for by the haste in packing and the vicissitudes which the papers suffered during the passage.

The second transfer of papers in conformity with the agreement of Jackson and Masot took place in August, 1818. On the 21st of that month, fifteen boxes and a trunk of documents were embarked on the American schooner

⁸⁸ Letter of Masot to Cienfuegos, July 31, 1818, legajo 1877.

⁸⁹ This statement of Masot respecting the loss of papers seems to be an exaggeration, as the seventeen boxes were still present after the attack, and the examination of the Papeles de Cuba has revealed no important lacuna ascribable to this occasion. J. G. Forbes, however, in a letter to J. Q. Adams, dated May 5, 1821, reported that the Spanish officials in Havana had informed him "that about ten boxes containing the records of grants of land in West Florida were taken by an insurgent privateer out of the vessel in which Governor Masot was a passenger from Pensacola". (American State Papers, Foreign Relations, IV. 743; Pérez, Guide to Cuban Archives, p. 76.) This statement, which is evidently false, was made in an effort to put an end to the persistence of Forbes in his endeavor to secure documents from the archives in Havana.

Sally.⁶⁵ These documents arrived in Havana on October 31, 1818.⁶⁶ The two above-mentioned consignments of papers were not returned to Pensacola upon the reoccupation of that city by the Spaniards.⁶⁷

The second article of the treaty between the United States and Spain (February 2, 1819) for the cession of the Floridas provided that "His Catholic Majesty cedes . . . archives and documents, which relate directly to the property and sovereignty of said provinces. . . . The said archives and documents shall be left in possession of the commissioners or officers of the United States duly authorized to receive them."⁶⁸ Despite this provision, it was many years before any documents were obtained from among the West Florida papers which were in Havana at the time of the cession. Repeated efforts on the part of the United States commissioner,⁶⁹ the protests of the Secretary of State to the Spanish minister, and the message of President Monroe of December 3, 1821, complaining of the failure to transfer the documents,⁷⁰ failed to elicit any other reply than that the papers in question had been lost in transit. Some investigation, however, of the Florida papers was made by the Spanish officials at this time.⁷¹

As a matter of fact Spain was not desirous that anyone from the United States should examine the Louisiana-West Florida documents. The Spanish consul at New Orleans, while recommending an individual of that city who desired to search for land titles, advised the officials at Havana that all possible hindrances should be placed in his way, hinting that things might be brought to light which would cause a decidedly unpleasant feeling on the part of the United States.⁷² An investigation of the documents which were then in Havana reveals only too well the mass of material which Spain desired should not be known to the United States. Finally, however, in 1835, N. P. Trist was allowed to select, under what restrictions it is not known, certain papers which were delivered to him and which he in turn sent to Washington. A portion of these documents is now in the Library of Congress.⁷³

The Bancroft Library of the University of California possesses a miscellaneous lot of some 600 or 700 documents, mostly originals, and mostly of the decade 1790-1800. derived from the Florida Occidental series.

FLORIDA ORIENTAL PAPERS.

As to the archives of East Florida, they remained in St. Augustine up to the time of the transfer to the United States," except such papers of the treasury department as were transmitted to the intendancy and Tribunal de Cuentas in Havana, from time to time, according to the administrative procedure.⁷⁴ Immediately after the transfer of Florida to the United States, the treasury documents were removed to Havana.⁷⁵

The archive of the office of the governor of East Florida was turned over in its entirety to the United States government, and consequently no papers from that office were found among the Papeles de Cuba. This archive was placed in charge of the United States Land Office and suffered many years of neglect. Finally in 1905 these papers were discovered by the Librarian of Congress, and arrangements were made to have them deposited in the Library of Congress, where they are now to be found.⁷⁶

⁷⁴ Draft of captain general to J. G. Forbes, May 16, 1821, legajo 1963.

⁷⁷ The following account of these papers is found in the Report of the Librarian of Congress for 1905, pp. 49-50: "In my report for 1904 I described the status of the Spanish papers sent to the Library from New Mexico. Learning of a quantity of similar records in the office of the United States surveyor general in Tallahassee, Fla., the Department of the Interior was asked if there were any obstacles to depositing them in the Library for arrangement and safe keeping. The Department not only accepted the suggestion, but further stated that it would be of public advantage if the deposit were made a permanent one, providing always that no papers relating to land titles should be so retained. Under this condition the papers were sent to the Library, and the permanent deposit will permit the institution to treat it in the same manner as its other collections are treated before they are made available for historical ends. The task of arranging, repairing, mounting, indexing, and binding will be undertaken in due season. The papers number 62,224 pieces, with some volumes bound under the Spanish rule. The number of papers in the volumes can hardly be determined as they now are, as the bolilla busily bored through and through an entire volume, and even the parchment covers, until a sheet looks like a bit of lace work. The damage thus done is in some cases irreparable, and forcibly illustrates the risks and dangers attending the care and preservation of manuscripts in semi-tropical or tropical climates where a rainy season and heat favor the development of these destructive pests.

"The nature of this collection of Spanish documents may be seen from the following selected list, taken from the labels of the bundles, of which there were 372 in all:

1. Correspondence with British authorities.
2. Councils of war, royal regulations and orders, etc.
3. Documents of the delivery of East Florida to the United States.
4. Embargo and revolution of 1795.
5. Indian presents.
6. Louisiana, Pensacola, Apalache, and Indians.
7. Memorials and concessions.
8. Negro titles, runaways, etc.
9. Oaths of allegiance.
10. Plans of fortifications and public buildings.
11. Proclamations, edicts, etc.
12. Secret correspondence of captain general [governor], and a large quantity of the correspondence of the captain general [governor] with the home government, the viceroy of Mexico, and his subordinate officers."

PAPELES DE CUBA IN THE ARCHIVO DE INDIAS.

Upon arrival in Seville, the Papeles de Cuba were placed on boxes in one of the galleries of the second floor of the Lonja. Soon it was discovered that they were infested with polilla (Calymmaderus oblongus, Gorham), and they were considered a menace to the other papers of the Archivo. They were hurriedly removed to the outer corridor and given a treatment with benzine. Then they were stored in a room on the first floor, where they remained much neglected for two decades. Since the remodelling of the Lonja in 1913, a more suitable place has been provided for this collection.

It has been stated that the documents of this section of the Archivo "are now dropping slowly to pieces, the prey of moths and mildew".⁷⁸ An extended examination fails to confirm this conclusion. As for the destructive tropical insects, let it be said that the benzine treatment combined with the climate has eradicated them. Among a thousand legajos handled, there were only eight which were completely useless and less than a score which were damaged to any great extent. No live polilla or evidences of recent activity were noted. Further, Dr. Giovanni Bolle, of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Görz, Austria, a specialist in insects injurious to books, was unable during his visit to the Archivo in 1911 to get any live specimens.

There are some few volumes and documents which are badly damaged from having the paper eaten by ink or from rough handling. It is safe, however, to say that very few documents have been lost from this collection since its removal to Seville. Further, there is no reason why many should be destroyed in the future, as the Archivo de Indias possesses excellent climatic conditions, and danger from fire or other damage is practically absent.

CARNEGIE INSTITUTION MISSION TO SEVILLE.

During the long period of neglect, sufficient work was done among the Papeles de Cuba to show their great importance.⁷⁹ In view of the value of these papers, the writer was sent to Seville on a mission for the Carnegie Institution of Washington to investigate and report on them. The mission resulted in a residence of over two years in Seville, January, 1911, to March, 1913, inclusive, during which his attention was given exclusively to this collection.

The original plan of the mission provided for the making of a calendar of the more important documents of the Papeles de Cuba relating to the history of the United States. Upon undertaking this task its impracticability was soon revealed. The great mass of legajos, the extraordinary number of documents in each, the impossibility of determining which were the most valuable, and the uncertainty as to the value of the Havana index and check-list, were the factors that brought about a change in the plan of work. To have continued on the original plan would have resulted in the calendaring of only from twenty-five to fifty legajos, and there would have been no assurance that the most important papers had been made available to students. After careful consideration the plan of the present volume was worked out. The result of the work is this Descriptive Catalogue of the Papeles de Cuba, which is intended to serve as an introduction to this valuable mass of records.

ORGANIZATION OF THE PAPERS.

The Papeles de Cuba received their present organization in 1856-1857, when they were prepared for transfer to the newly formed Archivo General de Cuba.⁸⁰ At this time and in 1876, indexes⁸¹ of these documents were made, which are now in the Archivo Nacional de Cuba. The first, begun in 1856 and completed in 1868-1869, is composed of twenty-one separate inventories, numbered from 1 to 21, each corresponding to an administration of the captains general from 1765 to 1840, together with inventories of the papers relating to Cartagena de Indias and Nuevo Reino de Granada. This index covers the papers in the Capitanes Generales series⁸² (legajos 1049-2264), Cartagena de Indias (legajos 707-738), and Nuevo Reino de Granada (legajos 739-757). This index was supplanted by the index of 1876, which consists of a bound volume, entitled "Archivo General de la Isla de Cuba—Indice 2°". It has 340 pages and contains the description of 1497 legajos of the Papeles de Cuba. It covers the following series: Capitanes Generales (legajos 1049-2264), Florida Occidental (legajos 1-227), 63 legajos from series nos. 6 to 11 (legajos 707-915), and Castillo del Morro (legajos 916-920).⁸³ The index of 1876 was very carefully made, and with one exception it corresponds exactly to the legajos described. This exception to its exactness is in the case of the Florida Occidental series (legajos 1-227), and is not the fault of the index or its maker, but is due to the later disturbance of some of the papers or possibly to the use of an older index made before the papers were disorganized. It should be added that in general the entries in the case of the Florida Occidental series are exact, the misplacement being of parts of the legajos only. The entries of this index have been used as headings for the descriptions in the Descriptive Catalogue.⁸⁴

⁸⁰ This archive was established and organized in conformity with a royal order of Oct. 31, 1857. See Llaverías, Historia de los Archivos de Cuba, pp. 96-99, which gives an account of the establishment and reprints the order.

⁸¹ There are many other earlier indexes and inventories of portions of this collection. Except for historical purposes these indexes are of little value, as the documents have been reorganized since they were made. A list of these indexes and inventories is, however, appended to this introduction.

⁸³ Letter of L. M. Pérez to J. F. Jameson, Dec. 20, 1910.

⁸⁴ It is interesting to note that Llaverías in his Historia de los Archivos de Cuba makes no mention of either of these indexes of the Papeles de Cuba.

When the documents were removed to Spain in 1888-1889, neither of these indexes was sent with them, but instead they were accompanied by the check-lists made by Sr. Cornejo.⁸⁵ The manner in which these check-lists were made resulted in an indefiniteness which cast a suspicion upon their value. Moreover, on account of their incompleteness, they did not afford a sufficient guide to the papers, nor in the nature of the case was the check-list or either of the Havana indexes adequate for the portion of the papers relating to the United States.

As may be seen from the table given on pages xii, xiii, above, the Papeles de Cuba are divided into various series based on topography. Within these series a chronological arrangement combined with classification by officials or official positions is used. The plan is satisfactory where strictly adhered to, as it is in most cases.

The documents relating to the United States are duplicated in different forms in many instances, because the archives of the provinces of Louisiana and West Florida are here combined with those of the captaincy general of Cuba, which had supervisory power over these provinces.⁸⁶

The Papeles de Cuba have suffered little modification in arrangement since their removal to Seville. Owing to the fact that the documents were considered to be in complete disorder,⁸⁷ some 5300 individual documents were removed from their legajos by Sr. González Verger and Professor Shepherd. About 500 of these documents have since been returned to their proper legajos; the remainder form legajos 2351 to 2375 inclusive. Those in legajos 2351 to 2356 have been copied for the Department of Archives and History, Jackson, Mississippi, and are listed in Robertson, List of Documents in Spanish Archives relating to the History of the United States.⁸⁸ Many of the papers of legajos 2357-2375 were removed for this same purpose, but the commission was never carried out. The remaining documents of these latter legajos were copied for Mr. Louis Houck of St. Louis⁸⁹ and Professor W. R. Shepherd. These documents are now arranged in chronological order within the several legajos, and with the exception of the last three legajos have been calendared for the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The impression that these papers were in complete disorder might have been gained from an inspection of the Florida Occidental series (legajos 1-227). As a matter of fact, however, the greater portion of the legajos relating to the United States are in good order. Of the 954 legajos examined,

⁸⁶ Cf., for example, legajo 155 with legajos 1552-1556, 1572.

⁸⁷ Cf. Shepherd, Guide to Spanish Archives, p. 77.

⁸⁸ Washington, Carnegie Institution, 1910, pp. xv, 368. More than a thousand documents from among the Papeles de Cuba are among those listed in that volume.

only 251 are in a disordered condition, and of these 198 belong to the Florida Occidental series.⁹⁰

It appears evident that the Papeles de Cuba were all in order during some period of their deposit in Havana. Two hypotheses are offered to explain the present disorder of part of the legajos. First, that they were all placed in order at the time of the reorganization of the archives in 1856 and that the disorder is due to careless handling between that time and their removal to Spain, for it is certain that the legajos now disordered were in about their present condition when they arrived in Seville. Secondly, that in 1856 the legajos were left as found and that the disorder was the result of careless handling or investigation during the period when the United States was making demands for the transfer of certain documents from the collection. With time and patience even the most disordered of the legajos of the collection could be rearranged on the basis of the Havana classification. This would to some extent vitiate the work of this report, but if the disordered legajos could ever be put in order, it would, of course, be a great improvement. The likelihood of such a task ever being undertaken, however, is very remote.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE PAPERS.

The Papeles de Cuba are arranged in legajos (bundles), either in the size of the Spanish pliego (21.5 by 31.5 cm.), of the Spanish cuartillo (16 by 21.5 cm.), or of what seems to be an English or American paper (18.5 by 23 cm.). The height of the legajo varies with the number of documents. In the pliego size (indicated in the descriptions by the letter A) are found the treasury documents, some of the correspondence in the Florida Occidental series, and some other documents. In the cuartillo size (indicated by the letter B) are the drafts of the governors of Louisiana and most of the correspondence of the local officials of Louisiana and the Floridas. Most of the original letters in the Capitanes Generales series are in pliego size folded once

Numbers of legajos.	Total present legajos relating to United States.	Number of legajos in disorder.
1- 227	244	198

<hr/> Total, 928 legajos	<hr/> 954	<hr/> 252

The difference between the numbers of the legajos and the total present legajos is due to the division of legajos.

to the cuartillo, while the drafts are all of the latter size. The third size (indicated by the letter C) includes the correspondence in French and English by the local officials of Louisiana and others, which is found in a group of legajos in the Florida Occidental series, entitled "Correspondencia Nacional y Extranjera".

The legajos are unwrapped, with the exception of a few hundred of the Capitanes Generales series which are in sheep cases. The only protection is a piece of cardboard, at the top and bottom of the legajo, which often is not as large as the papers. This is insufficient to protect against rough usage, dust, and dirt. Let it be said, however, that the legajos now receive careful handling from the employees of the archive.

COMPLETENESS OF THE COLLECTION.

Just how many documents have been lost from the Papeles de Cuba during the past century, it is hard to say. It is sufficiently evident, however, that very few have disappeared from the documents dating from about 1760. Documents before that date are rare, and the legajos relating to the United States covering periods before that time are mostly useless.

Many series of documents relating to Louisiana and the Floridas are complete. Among these may be mentioned treasury reports, correspondence of the governors and intendants of Louisiana, etc. The archive of the captaincy general is intact, as is shown by the various numbered series of correspondence of that office with the governors of Louisiana and East Florida and the commandants of Pensacola.⁹¹

Numbers of the legajos.	Series of documents.	Dates.	Number of legajos.
1- 227	Correspondence of the governors of Louisiana and ministers in Spain	1765-1804	7
	Id. governors of Louisiana and commandants of West Florida with captains general of Cuba	1782-1817	15
228- 282	Accounts, guarda almacén, Pensacola	1790-1796, 1811-1821	9
	Id. treasury, Pensacola	1783-1790, 1811, 1813-1821	17

	Id. captains general and commandants of West Florida	1781-1821	41
	Id. captains general and governors of Florida	1784-1821	46

(In many of the legajos of the last three series, two or more of the series are found in the same legajo, so that the number of legajos does not indicate that number of complete legajos of each series.)

RESULTS OF THE MISSION.

In all, 928 original legajos, containing materials relating to the United States, were found and examined. Only one legajo (561) relating to the United States was missing. The great reliability of the Havana index and the examination of many legajos, not relating to the United States, brings the conclusion that all the United States material in the Papeles de Cuba was located and described. Eight legajos⁹² were found to be completely useless, and some others partially damaged.⁹³ On account of the extraordinary size of many of the legajos, the writer was asked by the Chief of the Archive to divide them into two or more parts,⁹⁴ so that the present number of legajos relating to the United States is 954, of which eight are useless and one is missing, leaving a net total of 945. Sixty-five of these legajos are composed entirely of books, and ninety contain one or two volumes, in addition to the documents.

There is an estimated total of 472,743 documents and 461 account and letter books in the 945 legajos. This gives an average of 554 documents per legajo, including the 65 containing only books, or an average of 500 documents, if the latter are included and each book is counted as a single document. The number of separate documents would be materially increased if the duplicates occurring in the same legajo were counted, which was not done in the Capitanes Generales series and in the treasury documents. A small deduction should also be made for certain legajos where only a portion of the documents relates to the United States.⁹⁵

In giving the number of documents in the descriptions, the exact number is indicated in the case of the 143 listed legajos (see below), those calendared in this work, and many containing treasury papers. In the other legajos the estimate was based on the character of the papers and the height of the legajo, and for this reason the height is given in each case as well as the estimated number of documents.

CHARACTER OF THE DESCRIPTIONS.

The descriptions of the legajos given in this volume fall into two general classes, each of which in turn comprises two divisions. The first class includes all those legajos for which only general descriptions as to scope and content are given. In this class the descriptions are arranged uniformly in this order: (1) the heading as given in the Havana index, with corrected dates in brackets, (2) a statement of the period covered by the legajo and its arrangement and order, (3) a list of the correspondents, and (4) an indica-

⁹² Legajos 445, 446, 450, 452, 453, 454, 455, 461, all dated prior to 1760.

⁹³ These are noted in the descriptions.

⁹⁴ The parts are numbered as follows, e. g., 154-1, 154-2, 154-3; and are separately described.

⁹⁵ These legajos occur entirely in the Capitanes Generales series, e. g., legajos 1309, 1368, 1408, 1418, 1511, etc.

tion of the subjects treated and important documents found in the legajo. The first division of this class comprises the legajos of correspondence, mostly in disorder, between the governors of Louisiana and their subordinates (legajos 1-227), as well as other similar legajos throughout the collection. The second division consists of the well-ordered legajos of the Capitanes Generales series and others, in which the letters are numbered; many of these legajos have been listed.⁹⁶

The second class includes the legajos for which the descriptions are not merely general, but are complete in the form of an actual or practical calendar. The definitive work of description is done in this volume for this class, making the documents readily available to the historical investigator. In general the descriptions of these legajos consist of: (1) the Havana heading, (2) a statement of the scope and arrangement of the legajo, and (3) an indication, in form of calendar or otherwise, of the content. The first division of this class includes the accounts of the treasuries, intendancies, and reales almacenes, and the listas de revista and other similar and well-ordered documents. The second division is composed of expedientes, letter and account books, and indexes. This latter division is fully calendared in all cases.

The following table shows the number of legajos in the various classes indicated above:

Class I.	General description		532
Class II.	Complete description		413
	1. Accounts	269
	Listas, etc.	41
	2. Calendared expedientes	38
	Books	65
Useless			8
Missing			1
	Total		<hr/> 954

Of the 532 legajos of the first class, 143, selected as most deserving such fuller treatment, were calendared or listed by clerks under the direction of the writer, and the calendar slips are now in the office of the Department of Historical Research of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. In general the subject matter for these slips was obtained by copying the summary or abstract of the document, which was usually written on the margin or the carpeta (folder). As it was required by law that only one subject be treated in a letter,⁹⁷ and as the abstracts were to facilitate the labor of the recipient of the letters, they are found to be exact and to give a satisfactory idea of the document. In some cases, however, where the abstracts were not present, the clerks, after proper training, were permitted to make summaries. In all, about 57,000 documents have been listed in this form. The 143 legajos that have been calendared are indicated by the word "Listed" at the end of the description. These slips serve as a complete guide to, and show the value of, the documents of this group of legajos. A test made indicates that about 70 per cent. of the entries of documents would be suitable for inclusion in a published calendar, if such should ever be made from the slips. Meanwhile, whatever information they contain is at the service of historical investigators, on application to the Director of the Department of Historical Research named above.

⁹⁶ For example, legajos 1561-1572.

⁹⁷ "Real orden Para que en las Provincias de la Nueva España se observe la Ley que se cita, para que no se mezclen varios negocios, en una misma representacion, si no que se escriba con separacion sobre cada uno", dated at Buen Retiro, Aug. 21, 1748, legajo 2263.

In addition to the work of describing and calendaring, a series of 233 photographs was made. These photographs include documents of especial interest illustrative of the character of the papers and present a miscellaneous series of autographs of the various Spanish officials connected with the administration of Louisiana and the Floridas.⁸⁸

CONTENT OF THE PAPELES DE CUBA.

The portion of the Papeles de Cuba which relates to the United States contains documents treating the various phases of the Spanish administration in Louisiana and the Floridas and covering in general the period from 1761 to 1821, although there are some few documents both before and after these dates. Among the subjects treated are the political history of the region, both internal and external, including especially the relations with the United States and the Indian problem, finances, military, social and religious matters, immigration, and the super-imposition of the Spanish system of administration upon the French system in Louisiana.

The Florida Occidental series (legajos 1-227) contains correspondence of the governors of Louisiana with their subordinates, with the captains general of Cuba, the ministers of the Indies, the viceroys of New Spain, the bishops of Louisiana, and the consuls of Spain in the United States; correspondence of the commandants of Pensacola, intendants of Louisiana, and commandants of Mobile; expedientes in civil, criminal, and military cases; reales cédulas and despachos; and indexes and letter-books. The Florida Occidental series (legajos 228-282) comprises correspondence of the intendants of Louisiana and West Florida; accounts of the treasury and real almacén of Pensacola, office for the conclusion of the affairs of Louisiana, treasury of Nogales, and hospital at Pensacola; ajustamientos and listas de revista of troops and militia at Pensacola and Apalache; and treasury expedientes of New Orleans and Pensacola.

The Florida Oriental series (legajos 283-487) includes accounts of the treasury, real almacén, and hospital of St. Augustine; listas de revista, ajustamientos, etc., of troops at St. Augustine; correspondence of the contadores of St. Augustine; accounts of officials at San Vicente Ferrer, San Juan, and Isla Amalia; registros de entrada y salida (records of imports and exports) of St. Augustine; asientos (records) of employees; documents regarding Floridianos (Spanish settlers of Florida who were removed to Cuba when Florida was ceded to England in 1763); and treasury expedientes of St. Augustine, New Orleans, and Pensacola.

The Luisiana series (legajos 488-668) contains accounts of the treasury, custom-house, contaduría, and real almacén of New Orleans; correspondence of the intendants of Louisiana and West Florida with the ministers of Hacienda, governors of Louisiana, contadores of New Orleans and Pensacola, intendants of Havana, Tribunal de Cuentas of Havana, commandants of Pensacola and Mobile, treasury officials of Pensacola, customs officials of New Orleans, and commandants and guardas almacenes of the posts of Louisiana; accounts of the guardas almacenes of Natchez, Nogales, Placaminas, Mobile, and New Madrid; records of the hospital of New Orleans; royal orders and cédulas; asientos, listas de revista, and ajustamientos of troops, militia, and employees; commissions and hojas de servicio (service records) of officials of Louisiana; and documents relating to the city of New Orleans.

The Nueva Orleans series (legajos 669-706) comprises accounts of the treasury and real almacén of New Orleans; accounts of the reales almacenes of Mobile, Placaminas, Baton Rouge, and Pensacola; treasury expedientes of New Orleans; and correspondence of the intendants and contadores of Louisiana.

Legajos 772 and 830, which are placed in wrong series, contain accounts of the guardas almacenes of Placaminas and Natchez respectively.

The legajos in the Capitanes Generales series (legajos 1049-2264), relating to the United States, comprise correspondence of the captains general of Cuba with the governors of Louisiana and Florida, the commandants of Pensacola, the intendants of Louisiana and West Florida, bishops of Louisiana, Spanish agents, ministers and consuls in the United States, commandants of Mobile, commandant of the Army of Operation of 1781-1782, ministers in Spain (War, Hacienda, Indies, State, and Grace and Justice), and various officials in the United States.

The Luisiana series (legajos 2317-2321), the Florida Oriental series (legajos 2322-2327), the Florida Occidental series (legajos 2328-2334), and the Varios series (legajos 2335-2346) are continuations of the several series in legajos 1-706, and contain similar materials. Legajos 2351-2375, which were made in the Archivo de Indias from papers removed from the Florida Occidental series (legajos 1-227), comprise miscellaneous correspondence and other documents of the same character as the series from which they were removed.

VALUE AND EXPLOITATION OF THE PAPELES DE CUBA.

From the indication given above, the value of the Papeles de Cuba for that portion of the United States which was formerly Spanish Louisiana and the Floridas is clearly manifest. A relatively small amount of use has been made of this collection on account of its inaccessibility. Mention has been made of the documents copied for the Department of Archives and History, Jackson, Mississippi, and for Mr. Houck and Professor Shepherd. Professor I. J. Cox, of the University of Cincinnati, has made investigation of these papers, basing his work upon the notes for this volume, and has published some of the results.⁹⁹ The writer secured copies of many Mézières documents for Professor Herbert E. Bolton, of the University of California,¹⁰⁰ and had an extensive series of notes upon the commerce of Louisiana taken for Professor Edward Channing, of Harvard University. On the whole, however, the Papeles de Cuba present a virgin field for investigation, and it is hoped that this Descriptive Catalogue may be useful in placing the documents at the service of future investigators.

OBSERVATIONS.

The order pursued in describing the legajos has been indicated above (p. xxix). In cases where inclusive dates are given for a series of letters which are accompanied by drafts of replies, the dates of the drafts often extend either before or after the dates of the original letters. When in the series numeration a smaller number follows a larger, it is due to the fact that more than one numeration was used and the numbers are given in chronological order.

All the documents described in this volume are in Spanish except where otherwise indicated. As a knowledge of Spanish is necessary to anyone studying the Papeles de Cuba, the original Spanish titles of documents are given where possible, as being more exact than translations. Where both Spanish and French forms of names of places were used, the form used in any given instance is retained in the descriptions. In the case of New Orleans, Pensacola, and St. Louis, however, the Anglicized form is used in all cases except where they occur in titles of documents, and then the form in the document is retained. The names of persons are given in the form or forms used by the individual. Obvious misspellings, especially of personal names by other than the individual himself, have been eliminated.

⁹⁹ The following titles are based in part upon documents from the Papeles de Cuba: "The Louisiana-Texas Frontier", part II., in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, XVII. (1913), 1-42, 140-187; "General Wilkinson and his Later Intrigues with the Spaniards", in the American Historical Review, XIX. 794-812; "Wilkinson's First Break with the Spaniards", in Eighth Annual Report of the Ohio Valley Historical Association (1915), printed in the Biennial Report of the Department of Archives and History of the State of West Virginia, 1911-1912, 1913-1914 (Charleston, W. Va., 1915), pp. 49-56; West Florida, 1798-1813: a Study in American Frontier Diplomacy (Baltimore, in press).

¹⁰⁰ Part of these copies appear in translation in his Athanase de Mézières (Cleveland, 1915, 2 vols.). They are indicated, under their respective legajos, in the Descriptive Catalogue.

The lists of correspondents in the descriptions are, in general, arranged in chronological or alphabetical order, or in a combination of both. In many legajos, it was found more convenient to make groups according to the principal correspondents, within which the chronological and alphabetical order is observed. The names of Joseph Vazquez Vahamonde and Vicente Fernandez Texeiro or Texeyro require special notice. Their proper alphabetization is Vazquez and Fernandez, respectively, but as they were known quite generally as Vahamonde and Texeiro, the patronymics have frequently been omitted and they have in these instances been alphabetized as Vahamonde and Texeiro.

The common form of the Spanish abbreviations in these documents was made by writing the first part of the word and then placing the last two or three letters in a raised position, e. g., Haz^{da}, hazienda; R^s R^{tas}, Reales Rentas; S^{or}, Señor, etc. These raised letters have uniformly been brought down to a level with the remainder and a period placed after the abbreviation. This is the only change made in titles given as in the original.

The writer wishes to express his thanks to His Excellency Don Juan Riaño y Gayangos, Spanish minister to the United States, for several letters of introduction; to the Honorable Charles S. Winans, formerly American consul at Seville, for his many favors; to Sr. Dn. Pedro Torres Lanzas and Sr. Dn. José González Verger, the latter now deceased, chief and assistant chief of the Archivo de Indias, for their continued courtesies and assistance; and to the other employees of the Archivo for their courteous attention.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, PAPELES DE CUBA.

Legajo 1. 1775-1779. Correspondencia del Señor Galvez desde su ingreso de su mando á todas las Autoridades y sus Dependencias de la Isla de Cuba hasta su arribo al Virreynato de Nueva España. B, 23 cm., 700 letters.

There are only a few documents for 1775, and none for 1776. All the months of the remaining years are represented. Within the legajo the miscellaneous correspondence of Galvez is arranged in small bundles for each month and the letters of Navarro to Galvez are in two packets, one each for the years 1778 and 1779.

The legajo contains: (a) Letters directed to Bernardo de Galvez, governor of Louisiana, together with the drafts of his replies, from Joseph Biriones, San Juan; Francisco de Cartabona, St. Genevieve; Francisco Cruzat, St. Louis; Josef de Ezpeleta, Mobile; Luis Ferrazas, New Orleans; Fernando Leyba, St. Louis; Diego Joseph Navarro, Havana; Martin Navarro, New Orleans; Josef de la Peña, San Juan; Josef Petely, Valiza (Balize); Pedro Piernas, New Orleans; Fermin de Rada, New Orleans; and François Vallée, St. Genevieve. (b) Letters of Galvez to Joseph Biriones, Francisco Collell, Francisco Cruzat, Carlos de Grand Pré (many), Fernando Leyba, Athanas Mézières, and Balthazar de Villiers.

Subjects treated: The papers of 1775 relate to a case against Nicolas, chef de Natchitoches. The letters of the commandants of the various posts of the province deal mainly with routine affairs. Among others the following were noted: 1777, affairs at St. Louis and St. Genevieve; cultivation of hemp and flax; possible attack on the province by the English; Boulogny affair (Mar.); 1778, report on wheat, hides, and lead produced in the jurisdiction of St. Louis; taking possession of Illinois by G. R. Clark; copy of the will of Mr. LaCledé of St. Louis with list and valuation of his property; 1779, lists of vessels entering and departing from the Mississippi; petition of the French inhabitants living east of the Mississippi; naval affairs; and movements of the Americans. The letters of Diego Navarro deal mainly with military affairs. Many of them are nothing more than notes transmitting royal orders. Among the more important of this series are letters dealing with relations with America, England, and France; progress of the war; expeditions against the English posts on the Mississippi and Mobile rivers; and the plan of the conquest of Mobile.

Legajo 2. 1780-1786. Correspondencia del Señor Gálvez. A, 25 cm., 700 letters.

Documents were noted for the years 1780-1783, 1785, and 1786. The legajo is divided into sixteen packages, five for 1780, six for 1781, one for 1782, one for 1783, two for 1785, and one for 1786. Within these packages the letters are not in order. The greater part of the legajo consists of correspondence directed to B. de Galvez.

The legajo consists of the following series of correspondence: (a) Letters to Bernardo de Galvez from —— Aguirre, ——; Miguel de Aldereta, Pensacola; Juan Manuel de Cagigal, captain general of Cuba; Terrato Chacon, Pensacola; Francisco Collell, Galveztown; Francisco Cruzat, St. Louis; Josef de Ezpeleta, Mobile; ——— Fleming, ———; Pedro Giron, ———; [Miguel?] Goycoechea, ———; Enrique Grimarest, New Orleans; Estevan Miró, New Orleans; Diego Joseph Navarro, Havana; Martin Navarro, New Orleans; Martin Palao, Manchak; Pedro Piernas, acting governor, New Orleans; [Juan Antonio de ?] Riaño, [Baliza ?]; and Juan Ignacio de Urriza, Havana. (b) Letters from Bernardo de Galvez to Juan Manuel de Cagigal, Francisco Cruzat, ——— Fleming, Pedro Giron, Carlos de Grand Pré, and ——— Ugarte. (c) Letters to Pedro Piernas from ——— Aguirre, Josef de Ezpeleta, Joseph Navarro, and ——— Riaño. (d) Letters of Estevan Miró to ——— Campos y Pineda, Francisco Cruzat, Josef de Ezpeleta, Bernardo de Galvez, and Enrique Grimarest. (e) Josef de Ezpeleta to Enrique Grimarest and Estevan Miró. (f) ——— Campos y Pineda to Estevan Miró.

Subjects treated: The main theme of the legajo is the expeditions against Mobile and Pensacola, difficulties encountered, failures, success, and capture, and the establishment of Spanish rule in the conquered territory. Giron, J. Navarro, M. Navarro, and Urriza deal with subjects connected with the expeditions; Piernas tells of the affairs of New Orleans and the colony in general and consults regarding the affairs of moment; Cagigal writes of military matters; Ezpeleta treats the problems regarding the establishment of Spanish power at Mobile; Miró reports on his mission to Havana and deals with the expedition to Illinois (1783), action of the agents of Georgia at Natchez, the navigation of the Mississippi, and the Acadians (1785); Fleming and Ugarte write concerning the recruits; Collell, Cruzat, and Palao give reports especially regarding Indian affairs; and Aguirre, Aldereta, Goycoechea, and Riaño deal with naval matters.

Special items: List of officers and troops for the expedition of 1780; list of articles necessary for Indian gifts at Mobile (1780); lists of vessels and munitions for the expedition of 1781; instructions to the treasury officials at Pensacola; and hojas de servicio certified by Bernardo de Galvez.

Legajo 4. 1786-1787. Señor Miró su correspondencia con el Capitan General de las dos Floridas Señor Gálvez y otras Autoridades de aquel Gobierno y de la Isla de Cuba. B, 31 cm., 750 letters.

The letters cover the entire two years and are divided into four bundles, one for each half-year. The letters of each month are pretty well together.

The legajo comprises the original letters, together with a few drafts, of Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, to François Allain, Ignacio Balderas, Francisco Boulligny, Francisco Cruzat, Jacobo DuBreuil, Pedro Favrot, Vizente Folch, Conde de Galvez (1786 only, nos. 280-282, 284, 286, 288, 290-292, 295, 297-301, 303-305, 308, 309, 312, 320, 322, 323, 326-329, 332-334; cf. legajo 224 (g)), Carlos de Grand Pré, Mauricio O'Conor, Arturo O'Neill, Josef de la Peña, Francisco Rivas, and Nicolas Verbois.

Important items: 1786, American settlers at Natchez; Indian affairs; Indian gifts; movement of Indians against the American posts; proposal of Miró for the withdrawal of paper money from circulation; 1787, McGillivray and the projected attack on the Americans; trade with the Indians; regarding petitions for land grants; and decree creating two secretaryships for the Indies. The greater part of the legajo treats of routine affairs.

Legajo 5. 1788. Señor Miró su correspondencia con el Capitan General de las dos Floridas y otras Autoridades de aquel Gobierno. B, 32 cm., 750 letters.

The documents cover the entire year of 1788. The legajo is divided into two bundles corresponding to the half-year, with the months in order in each. Within the months the papers are unorganized.

The legajo comprises the correspondence directed by Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, to his subordinates, Ignacio Balderas, Francisco Cruzat, Carlos Luis DeBlanc, Marcos DeVilliers, Vizente Folch, Carlos de Grand Pré, Valentin LeBlanc, Mauricio O'Conor, Arturo O'Neill, Joseph de la Peña, Manuel Perez, Francisco Rivas, Joseph Valiere, and Nicolas Verbois.

Important items: French immigrants from Illinois; land grants; immigrants from the United States and their oaths of allegiance; "Police de negres"; counterfeiting paper money; relations with Osage Indians; Indian gifts; McGillivray; establishment of Cherokees in Spanish territory; relations of the United States with the Indians, conduct of Richard Winn, Andrew Pickens, and George Mathews; passports granted by Miró; vessels arriving at mouths of the Mississippi; Zenon Balls and smuggling; and index of letters of Miró to Ignacio Balderas, Pasa Lutra (Passe à l'Outre—nos. 118-263, Jan.-Dec., 1788).

Legajo 6. 1789. Correspondencia del Señor D. Estevan Miró, Gobernador de Nueva Orleans con el Capitan General de las dos Floridas y otras Autoridades de aquel Gobierno. B, 28 cm., 550 letters.

The letters cover all the months of the year 1789. The legajo is disorganized, but most of the documents for each month are found together.

The legajo is made up of the original letters and drafts of Governor Miró of Louisiana to Ignacio Balderas, Domingo Cabello, Francisco Cruzat, Louis Charles DeBlanc, Jacobo DuBreuil, Vizente Folch, Nicolas Forstall, Pedro Foucher, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Carlos de Grand Pré, Valentin LeBlanc, Mauricio O'Conor, Manuel Perez, Francisco Rivas, Joseph Valliere, Joseph Vazquez Vahamonde, Nicolas Verbois, and Enrique White. There are also a very few letters of William Panton, Pensacola, to Miró.

Items of interest: Indian affairs at Natchez and Mobile; McGillivray; immigrants from the United States; projects of George Morgan; project of Carlos Wheelan with thirty Catholic families; commercial relations with the Western states; and military matters.

Legajo 7. 1790. Correspondencia del Señor Miró á varias Autoridades de las Floridas. B, 23 cm., 400 letters.

The letters of this legajo cover all the months of the year. The legajo is disorganized, but most of the letters for each month are found together, while those of each individual occur in two or three bunches within each of the months.

The legajo consists of the original letters and drafts of Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, directed to Ignacio Balderas, Nicolas Daunoy, Luis DeBlanc, Ignacio Delinó, Vizente Folch, Nicolas Forstall, Pedro Foucher, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Carlos de Grand Pré, Valentin LeBlanc, Mauricio O'Conor, Arturo O'Neill, Joachim de Peramas, Manuel Perez, Joseph Vahamonde, Joseph Valliere, Nicolas Verbois, Luis de Villars, Enrique White, and Geronimo Yevens.

Important items: Relations with the Osage Indians; immigrants from the United States; remittances of applications for land grants; Panton and Company and the Indian trade; Bowles; McGillivray; instructions to Delinó as commandant of the post of Carlos Tercero de Arkansas; and an index of the letters of Miró to Ignacio Balderas, commandant of Pasa de Lutra. The greater part of the legajo treats of routine affairs.

Legajo 8. 1791-1792, [1781, 1782]. Correspondencia del Señor Miró á varias Autoridades de las Floridas. B, 24 cm., 600 letters.

The letters of the legajo are of the years 1781, 1782, and 1791. The legajo is divided into three bundles: one small one for 1781 and 1782; a second, about half of the legajo, covering Jan. to May of 1791; and a third for June to Dec. of 1791. The months of the two latter bundles come fairly well in order, and the letters of each individual for each month are usually together. The greater part of the legajo consists of the letters to Gayoso de Lemos and O'Neill.

Almost the entire legajo consists of letters and a few drafts of Estevan Miró. The correspondence of 1781 and 1782 comprises letters of Miró to Vizente Folch, Anthony Hutchins, and Balthazar de Villiers; of Arturo O'Neill to Francisco Boulogny, Miró, and Pedro Piernas; and of Anthony Hutchins to Miró. The correspondence of 1791 is made up of letters of Miró to Ignacio Acosta, Nicolas Daunoy, Carlos DeBlanc, Luis DeBlanc, Ignacio Delinó, Vizente Folch, Nicolas Forstall, Pedro Foucher, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Carlos de Grand Pré, Valentin LeBlanc, Mauricio O'Conor, Arturo O'Neill, Manuel Perez, Tomas Portell, Francisco Rivas, Joseph Vahamonde, Nicolas Verbois, and Luis de Villars. There are also a few letters of Vahamonde to Miró.

All the correspondence deals with routine matters.

Legajo 9. 1781-1783. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades Militares de las Floridas. B, 42 cm., 900 letters.

The bulk of the legajo is of the years 1782 and 1783. The letters are in packages for each of the years, within which the months come fairly well in order, but with no divisions within the same.

The correspondence of this legajo consists of letters directed to Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, by his subordinates, together with some of the drafts in reply to these letters. The list of those writing to Miró includes: Ignacio Balderas, San Juan del Bayu; Francisco Manuel de las Caxigas, But de Manchak; Francisco Collell, New Orleans; Francisco Cruzat, San Luis de Ilinueses (St. Louis); Ignacio Delinó, Baton Rouge; Francisco Deuerges, Baliza; Jacobo DuBreuil, San Luis de Ilinueses; Pedro Favrot, Mobile; Bernardo de Galvez, Guarico; Carlos de Grand Pré, Pointe Coupée (Punta Cortada); Henrique Grimarest, Mobile; Arturo O'Neill, Pensacola; Martin Palao, Manchak; Josef Petely, Valiza; Pedro Piernas, New Orleans and Natchez; Antonio de San Maxent, Galveztown; and Felipe Treviño, Natchez.

Items of interest: Rebellion at Natchez; American immigrants at Natchez; lists of militia at St. Louis and St. Genevieve; lists of Indian presents distributed at St. Louis; land grants; notices of vessels entering the Mississippi; Indian affairs in general; counterfeiting, a sample ten dollar bill and one of one real being present.

Legajo 10. 1784. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades Militares al Señor Miró. B, 21 cm., 300 letters.

The letters cover all the months of the year. The correspondence is badly disordered, though in many cases, especially those of Petely and Conde de Galvez, the letters are in folders for the months, but without any organization within the same.

The correspondence consists mostly of letters to Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, from Francisco Cruzat, St. Louis, and Josef Petely, Baliza. The remainder consists of letters to Miró from Francisco Bouligny, New Orleans; Pedro Favrot, Bas du Bayou; Conde de Galvez, Madrid; Henrique Grimarest, Mobile; Francisco Rivas, Manchak; and Antonio de San Maxent, Galveztown.

Subjects treated: Indian and military affairs; lists of vessels entering and leaving the Mississippi. The major part of the legajo deals with routine matters.

Legajo 11. 1785. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades Militares al Señor Miró. C, 30 cm., 600 documents.

The documents cover all the months of the year. Those for each month and each commandant are to some extent together, otherwise they are not in order.

The legajo is composed of letters to Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, from Tomas Acosta, Pensacola; Ignacio Balderas, Fuerte San Juan; Le Chev. Bellegarde, Pensacola; Francisco Bouligny, Natchez; Francisco Manuel de las Caxigas, Pensacola; Francisco Cruzat, San Luis de Illinois (St. Louis); Nicolas Daunoy, New Orleans; Ignacio Delinó, Pensacola; Pedro Favrot, Mobile; Conde de Galvez, Havana (Jan.-May); Carlos de Grand Pré, Natchez; Luis LeBlanc de St. Denis, ———; Arturo O'Neill, Pensacola; Antonio de Oro, Sta. Geneveva; Antonio Palao, Pensacola; Josef Petely, Valiza; Pedro Piernas, Pensacola; Tomas Portell, Pensacola; Francisco Rivas, Manchak; Pierre Rousseau, Natchitoches; Maximiliano de San Maxent, Galveztown; and Philippe Treviño, Natchez. There are also a few drafts of Miró to some of the above.

Subjects treated: Political and commercial conditions; military matters; commission of William Davenport, Nathaniel Christmas, and Nicolas Long; escaped slaves, relations with the United States.

Special items: Muster rolls of officers and soldiers; reports on the army; lists of supplies; petition of Harry Alexander, David Hodge, and ten other Englishmen regarding their status (Mar. 1); instructions of Miró to Pedro Rousseau, appointed commandant of Natchitoches (July 4); report on vessels entering and leaving the Mississippi at Valiza, by Petely (Aug. 31); case against William Davenport for sedition because of statements regarding the capture of Natchez (Dec. 4, 94 pp.).

Legajo 12. 1786. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades Militares al Señor Miró. B, 21.5 cm., 500 letters.

The letters cover all the months of the year 1786. The months come in order in the legajo, but with no separation between them. The letters for each individual for each month are usually grouped together. Some of the series are numbered, notably that of Grand Pré.

The legajo contains letters to Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, from his subordinates, Francisco Bouligny, Natchez; Francisco Cruzat, St. Louis; Jacobo DuBreuil, Arkansas; José de Evia, Atakapas; Pedro Favrot, Mobile; Carlos de Grand Pré, Natchez; Henrique Grimarest, Mobile; Antonio de Oro, Sta. Geneveva; Joaquin de Osorno, Natchez; Pedro Piernas, New Orleans; and Francisco Rivas, Manchak. There are also a few drafts of Miró to Favrot.

Important items: Land grants; friendship of Indians with the Spaniards; movements of the American forces under G. R. Clark; instructions for the inhabitants of Manchak, by Rivas (Nov.); and a letter of William Davenport to Grand Pré asking permission to enter Natchez district because unable to pursue his journey on account of Indian wars (June).

Legajo 13. 1787. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades Militares al Señor Miró. C, 24 cm., 500 letters.

The letters cover the months Jan. to Oct., 1787. Most of the letters are numbered, but the legajo is disorganized.

The legajo consists of letters addressed to Estevan Miró, governor of Louisiana, by the commandants of the posts of his jurisdiction, as follows: Ignacio Balderas, Valiza; Francisco Cruzat, St. Louis; Nicolas Daunoy, New Orleans; Luis DeBlanc, Natchitoches; Ignacio Delinó, Pensacola; Jacobo DuBreuil, Arkansas; Pedro Favrot, Mobile; Nicolas Forstall, Opelousas; Carlos de Grand Pré, Natchez; José de la Peña, St. Genevieve, Rapide, and Natchitoches; Josef Petely, Galveztown; Josef Piernas, Natchitoches; Marcos de Villiers, Galveztown; and Josef Valliere, Arkansas.

The letters are mostly short and deal with the routine affairs of the various posts. Among the enclosures are found a great many petitions and a number of oaths of fidelity taken by the inhabitants of Natchez.

Legajo 53. 1796-1799. Correspondencia recíproca entre el Sor. Folch y Sor. Baron de Carondelet. B, 31 cm., 600 letters.

The letters are scattered over the months from Oct., 1795, to Dec., 1799. The legajo is in disorder. The letters of Folch to the governor of Louisiana are numbered.

The legajo contains: (a) Letters of Vizente Folch, Pensacola, to Francisco Bouligny, Baron de Carondelet, Marqués de Casa Calvo, Nicolas Daunoy, Juan Dominguez, Benigno Garcia Calderon, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Manuel Lanzos, Tomas Portell, and Diego de Vegas. (b) Letters to Folch, from Baron de Carondelet, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, and Francisco de Paula Gelabert.

Subjects treated: Indian affairs, presents; boundary with the United States; Pantón; Bowles; Hawkins; capture of correspondence; arrival of mails; establishment of a correspondence with the Spanish consuls in the United States by Folch; notices from the United States; reports on munitions and revistas de inspeccion; and "Ordenes y avisos al Público", being twelve proclamations of Folch at Pensacola in 1798.

Legajo 54. 1800-1802, [1791]. Correspondencia recíproca entre el Señor Folch, el Marqués de Casa Calvo y otros. B, 18 cm., 400 letters.

The letters cover the years 1800-1802, with only a few for 1791, and are badly disordered.

The greater part of the legajo is made up of letters of Vizente Folch, commandant of Pensacola, to Marqués de Casa Calvo, Jacobo DuBreuil, Manuel Lanzos, Pedro Olivier, Joaquín de Osorno, Cayetano Perez, Tomas Portell, Pedro Rousseau, Manuel de Salcedo, and Francisco Maximiliano de San Maxent. There are a few letters of Francisco de Paula Gelabert, Pensacola, to Manuel Lanzos; and Marqués de Casa Calvo to Folch. The few letters of 1791 are of Folch, Mobile, to Governor Miró.

Important items: Inventories of documents and effects taken after recapture of Apalache; relations with Talapuches; Bowles and the expedition against St. Marks; and reports on artillery at Pensacola. Most of the legajo is of routine matters of small importance.

Legajo 55. 1803-1811. Correspondencia recíproca con varias Autoridades. B, 27.3 cm., 700 letters.

The letters are scattered over the period from Jan., 1803, to July, 1811, but for many months there are none. There are a few letters of 1802. The correspondences of Folch and Salcedo are arranged together. For the remainder of the legajo the letters of each month are together, as well as those of each individual within the months.

The legajo consists of: (a) Letters of Vizente Folch, commandant of Pensacola, to Ignacio Balderas, Mariano de la Bastida, José de Carrizosa y Adorno, Marqués de Casa Calvo, Francisco Collell, Jacobo DuBreuil, Luis Feriet, Francisco Maximiliano de Sn. Maxent, Joaquín de Osorno, Antonio Salazar, Manuel de Salcedo, Manuel de Salcedo and Marqués de Casa Calvo (together), and Cayetano Perez. (b) Originals and drafts of Manuel Salcedo to Vizente Folch.

Subjects treated: Relations with the Creek Indians, Bowles, Hawkins, and Durouzeaux (especially in the correspondence with Salcedo in 1803, which has many important enclosures); relations with the United States; danger of attack on Pensacola; movement of American troops against West Florida; and instructions to commissioners to Indians and captains of vessels, by Folch (1805, 1808). There are copies of letters of the Convention of Florida trying to induce Pensacola to join the state (1810).

Legajo 56. 1787-1797, [1799]. Correspondencia de varias Autoridades al Señor Folch. B, 28.5 cm., 700 letters.

The extreme dates of the legajo are Aug., 1787, and Sept., 1799. About one-half of the legajo is for 1797; most of the other half is for the years 1788 to 1791 and 1796, with documents for most of the months of these years. There are only a few documents for each of the other years, representing only a few of the months. The letters of the years come fairly well together and in some cases those of the months also, but otherwise they are disordered.

The legajo is composed of the following series of correspondence: (a) 1787-1797, 1799, the governors of Louisiana to Vizente Folch (drafts); 1790, Gerónimo Yevenes, Mobile, to Governor Estevan Miró; 1792, 1795, Francisco Gonzalez de Tonte, Pensacola, to Enrique White; 1793, Juan Miguel de Losada, Pensacola, to Enrique White. Legajo 107. 1768-1785. Correspondencia del Comandante del Fuerte de Arcanzas al Gobernador de la Luisiana. B, 22 cm., 500 letters.

The letters of this legajo are scattered through the years 1766-1775, 1778-1779, 1781, 1783-1785, many of which have only a very few documents. On the whole the legajo is badly disorganized, though usually the letters for each year are together and in some cases those of one individual for a year are in a folder with the year and name of commandant endorsed thereon.

The legajo is mainly made up of letters addressed to the governors of Louisiana by the commandants of the post at Arkansas, DeClouet, F. Desmaselliere, Josef Orieta, Fernando Leyba, and Jacobo DuBreuil. There are also letters of: 1767, St. Ange, St. Louis, to governor of Louisiana (French); 1768, DeClouet to [Philip] Aubry (in French); 1779, Juan Delavillebeuvre to Bernardo de Galvez; 1781, B. de Galvez, New Orleans, to Enrique Grimarest; and 1781, Carlos de Grand Pré (Point Coupée?) to Galvez.

Important items: Reports on the condition of the posts and the inhabitants; census of Indians; lists of Indian presents; expenses of post at Arkansas; the attack by Colbert on Fort Carlos 3° (in letters of DuBreuil, May, 1793); and notices regarding the expedition against Pensacola in 1781.

Legajo 108. 1800-1806. Memoriales en demanda de licencias de varios Presidarios. B, 30 cm., 450 documents.

There are documents of all the years, the greater number being of 1800. The legajo is in order as indicated.

The legajo consists of the following documentation, arranged in three parts:

I. 1800-1806. Petitions of presidarios of Pensacola for discharge after having completed sentences. All have decrees and informations on the margin.

II. 1800, Jan. 4-Dec. 27. Letters of Vizente Folch, Pensacola, to Marqués de Casa Calvo, nos. 382-659, all in order. Some few letters of the series were written by Francisco de Paula Gelabert.

III. 1800, Jan. 7-Dec. 29. Drafts of Marqués de Casa Calvo, governor of Louisiana, to Folch. Carpetas for each month. There are also two letters of Folch to Salcedo (no. 667, Aug. 29, 1801, and no. 720, Jan. 17, 1802).

Subjects treated: Bowles; accusation of treason against Portell for surrender of San Marcos; expedition against San Marcos; Indian affairs; capture of the sloop Gavilan (Hawk). Many important enclosures of letters from Durouzeaux, Hawkins, and Panton and Company, and newspapers.

Legajo 109. 1765-1768. Correspondencia del Gobernador y Capitan General de la Provincia de Tejas en el Real Presidio de los Adaes Frontera de la Nueva Luisiana al Gobernador de dicha Luisiana Señor Ulloa. B, 32 cm., 700 letters.

The correspondence covers all four years, but the greater part is of 1767 and 1768. The documents for each month are fairly well together and the months come in order.

The legajo contains: (a) Letters directed to Antonio de Ulloa, governor of Louisiana, by various individuals of the province, including: Fred. Haldiman[d], Pensacola (with drafts of replies); Joseph Joaquin de Iriate, Isla Real Catholica de San Carlos; George Johnstone, Pensacola; Manuel Joseph de Loyola, New Orleans; Joseph de Orieta, San Gabriel; Antonio Donato Paredes, Isla Real Catholica de San Carlos; Francisco Riu, St. Louis; Brigadier-General William Taylor, Pensacola; Andres de Valderrama, Isla Real Catholica de San Carlos; Joseph Varela, San Carlos el Principe; and Ral. Walsh. (b) Letters of Ulloa to Iriate, Paredes, and Riu. The most extensive series are those of Loyola and Orieta to Ulloa and Ulloa to Riu. (c) A few letters of P. Barral, Jamaica, to Ulloa. (d) 1792, Andres (Andrew) Ellicott, Clarkesville, to Manuel Gayoso de Lemos.

Subjects treated, in correspondence of Loyola: Supplies for the posts at Ilinoces, Rio Colorado, and Iberville; transportation of Acadians to Natchez and aid granted to them; aid to Capuchins. In correspondence of Riu: Indian affairs; gifts for Indians, with lists of same; and expedition to Illinois. By Ellicott, demarcation of boundary.

Special items: 1766-1767, lists of vessels arriving at and sailing from New Orleans (in French and Spanish); 1767, certificates of the taking possession of the forts on the Missouri by the Spaniards; lists of French vessels sailing from New Orleans with Spanish passports; act of flag-raising at Balisa (Apr. 19); act of blessing and naming Isla Real Catholica de San Carlos (May 10); regulations for vessels entering and departing from the Mississippi, by Ulloa (Dec. 27); lists of Acadians arriving in Louisiana; 1767-1768, lists of vessels entering and leaving the Mississippi at Isla Real Catholica de San Carlos; and lists of cargoes of vessels arriving from French ports.

Legajo 147. 1814-1815, [1770-1771, 1780, 1793, 1795, 1799, 1810, 1813]. Correspondencia de varios Jefes y Oficiales al Gobernador de la Luisiana. B, 39 cm., 850 letters.

Most of the legajo is of the period from Dec., 1813, to Dec., 1815, inclusive, with only a few letters for each of the other years mentioned. The legajo is disordered. Most of the correspondence is directed to Gonzalez Manrique.

The legajo contains the following series of correspondence, all for the period 1813-1815, except item (d): (a) Letters to Mateo Gonzalez Manrique, commandant of Pensacola, from José Bernardo, Pensacola; Antonio Cabanas, Pensacola; Felix Calleja, viceroy of Mexico, Mexico; Francisco Caso y Luengo, San Marcos de Apalache (many); Alexandro Contador, on board the Diana, Pensacola; Carlos Deville Degoutin, San Carlos de Barrancas; Marcos DeVilliers, San Carlos de Barrancas and San Marcos de Apalache; Vicente Fernandez Texeiro, Pensacola; Nicolas de Finiels, San Carlos de Barrancas; Jaime Fontenals, Pensacola; Manuel Garcia, Pensacola; Benigno Garcia Calderon, Pensacola; Andrew Jackson, near Pensacola; Sebastian Kindelan, St. Augustine; Martin de Madrid, Pensacola; Antonio Molina, Pensacola; Francisco Morejon, Pensacola; Diego Morphy, New Orleans; Manuel Ordoñez, San Carlos de Barrancas; Luis Piernas, Pensacola; Bernardo Prieto, Pensacola; Francisco Rubio, Pensacola; José de Soto, San Carlos de Barrancas; Mariano de Urrutia y Gato, San Carlos de Barrancas; and Diego de Vera, Pensacola. (b) Letters to José de Soto from Antonio Cabanas, Pensacola; Francisco Caso y Luengo, San Marcos de Apalache; Manuel Garcia, Pensacola; Benigno Garcia Calderon, Pensacola; Diego Morphy, New Orleans; Luis Piernas, Pensacola; and Antonio Soler, Pensacola. (c) Letters of Mateo Gonzalez Manrique, Pensacola, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; Gonzalez Manrique to Jaime Fontenals; and José de Soto, San Carlos de Barrancas, to Francisco Caso y Luengo. (d) Letters of: 1770-1771, Athanaze de Mézières, Natchitoches, to [Luis de Unzaga], governor of Louisiana; 1780, Pedro Piernas, New Orleans, to François Vallée; 1793, Juan Delavillebeuvre, Boukfouka, to Manuel Lanzos; 1795, Francisco Montreuil, New Orleans, to Juan Delavillebeuvre; 1799, Marqués de Casa Calvo,

New Orleans, to Enrique White (drafts); and 1810, James Du Rouzeaux, Coweittaws, to Vizonte Folch (in English).

Important items: The most important series of letters are those of Morphy to Gonzalez Manrique, which treat with much detail: affairs in the United States; the war with England; the Mexican revolution; movements of an armed force of 1600 men around Nacogdoches; insurgents at Natchitoches under Dr. Robinson; pirates at Barataria; movements of the army under General Jackson; and the embargo. Many clippings from New Orleans papers are enclosed in the above letters. Other items: 1813-1815, memorials of officials and soldiers; Indian and other affairs at San Marcos de Apalache (very much); 1814, proclamation of Claiborne forbidding fitting out in Louisiana of expeditions against Spanish territory (Mar. 23); commercial regulations of the province of Yucatan (Apr. 6); instructions of José de Soto to commandant of the detachment on west side of Rio Perdido (Sept. 22); 1815, list of slaves belonging to residents of Pensacola which were found among the English at Apalachicola; and, 1815-1816, passports granted by Spanish consulate of New Orleans to individuals to go to Pensacola.

Legajo 148. 1816-1823, (on carpeta 1816-1819, 1821-1827), [1781, 1786, 1787, 1789, 1790, 1792-1799, 1802, 1814-1819, 1822, 1824-1825]. Correspondencia al Gobernador de la Luisiana. B, 36 cm., 700 letters.

Most of the legajo is of the years 1816-1818, but there are many for 1790, 1792-1799. The legajo is badly disordered.

The legajo contains the following series of correspondence, relating to the United States: Letters of: 1786, Martin Navarro, New Orleans, to Pedro Favrot; 1790, 1792-1799, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, New Orleans, to Luis DeBlanc (drafts); Fernando Lisoro, San Estevan de Tombecbé, to Juan Delavillebeuvre; Antonio Palao, [San Estevan de Tombecbe], to Juan Delavillebeuvre; Pedro Rola [ibid.] to Delavillebeuvre; Zenon Trudeau (St. Louis?) to Baron de Carondelet; governor of Louisiana, New Orleans, to Luis de Blanc (drafts); governor of Louisiana to Martin Duralde (drafts); governor of Louisiana to Josef de la Peña (drafts); governor of Louisiana to Enrique White (drafts); 1802, governor of Louisiana, New Orleans, to Manuel Garcia (drafts); governor of Louisiana to Gilberto Guillemard (drafts); 1814, Felipe Prieto, San Marcos de Apalache, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; 1814-1816, Luis Piernas, Pensacola, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; 1816, Xavier Abadia, Cadiz, to sub-inspector de dos Floridas; Francisco Bellestre, San Carlos de Barrancas, to José Masot; Antonio Molina, Pensacola, to José Masot; Francisco Maximiliano de San Maxent, Pensacola, to Juan Galguera; José de Soto, Pensacola, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; 1817, Diego de Barrios, San Marcos de Apalache, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; Francisco Martinez, San Carlos de Barrancas, to Nicolas de Finiels; Anastasio Montes de Oca, San Marcos de Apalache, to Francisco Caso y Luengo; 1818, José Masot, Pensacola, to Carlos Deville Degoutin; and, 1819, Luis de Onis, Washington, to captain general of Cuba.

About one-third of the legajo is made up of letters from the captain general's office of Havana and some letters from the Nuevo Reyno de Granada, none of which relate to the United States.

Items of interest: 1792, report on troops and munitions of the Natchez District; 1794, 1796, 1797, invoices of supplies for the fort at San Marcos de Apalache; 1797-1798, invoices of supplies for Placaminas; 1816, instructions to captain charged with the recovery of negro slaves in possession of Indians at San Marcos de Apalache; 1817, list of buildings at Pensacola; instructions for the commandant of the post at San Carlos de Barrancas (Jan. 15); 1818, inventory of the artillery at Pensacola; and 1823, real cedula announcing the abolition of the Constitution of the Spanish monarchy.

Legajo 181. 1772-1804, [1765-1771, 1815-1816]. Correspondencia reciproca entre el Secretario de Consejo Supremo de Guerra y el Gobernador de la Luisiana. Correspondencia de los Superintendentes Señor Marques de Grimaldi y D. José Masimo [Francisco Antonio Moñino] Conde de Florida Blanca con el Gobernador de la Luisiana. A, 11 cm., 500 documents.

This legajo is made up of the following miscellaneous collection of documents, in sections, in the order indicated, some of which are arranged and others not:

(a) 1765-1768, 1777, 1779. Royal orders and ordenanzas regarding posts and mails for the Indies.

(b) 1783-1796. Letters of Antonio Ventura de Taranco, Madrid, to the governor of Louisiana (a few).

(c) 1796. Copies of four royal decrees, including declaration of war against Great Britain.

(d) 1769-1770. Carpeta no. 3 of documents prepared by Governor O'Reilly for his successor, Luis de Unzaga. This includes instructions for the commandants of Arkansas (1769, in Spanish and French), Baliza (1769), Natchitoches (1770, in Spanish and French), and San Geneveva (1770, with a census of the post attached).

(e) 1769-1770. Carpetas nos. 4-9 of documents prepared by O'Reilly for Unzaga. The most important items contained in these are reports on the army in Louisiana; petition of the Acadians of Natchez to change their residence; and inventory of the hospital.

(f) 1783. Indexes of the correspondence despatched by the acting governor of Louisiana to the inspector general of infantry.

(g) 1815-1816. Royal orders transmitted by the inspector general de Indias (Guerra) to the sub-inspector general de Florida Occidental at Pensacola.

(h) 1769-1782. Letters of Conde de O'Reilly, ———, to Bernardo de Galvez and Luis de Unzaga y Amezaga. About two hundred letters, mostly very brief and mixed, which relate to military affairs of Louisiana.

(i) 1783-1802. Drafts of letters of the governors of Louisiana, Estevan Miró, Baron de Carondelet, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Marqués de Casa Calvo, and Manuel de Salcedo, to the ministers, Antonio Ventura de Taranco (1783-1796), Francisco Cerda (1796), Joseph Antonio de Borja (1796-1798), Antonio Porcel (1801-1802), and Juan Ibañez de la Renteria (1802). About one hundred drafts in order in carpetas for each of the years. The majority of the letters acknowledge the receipt of royal orders and despatches and promise the enforcement of the same in the province.

Legajo 182. 1766-1788, [1765, 1790, 1793, 1797, 1798, 1803-1812]. Documentos relativos á muy variados asuntos. A, 28 cm., 900 documents.

The greater part of the legajo is of the years 1779-1783. There are no documents for some of the years of the original entry. The legajo is in complete disorder. The most extensive series of letters are those of B. de Galvez with Josef de Galvez and John Campbell. The legajo is especially important for the expeditions against Pensacola.

The legajo contains copies of the correspondence for the years 1779-1783 between Bernardo de Galvez, governor of Louisiana and commander of the operations against the English, and Miguel de Alderete, Josef Calvo, Juan Manuel de Cagigal, John Campbell, Peter Chester, Josef Dufresne, Joseph de Galvez, Matias de Galvez, the acting governor of Louisiana, Diego Joseph Navarro, Josef Solano, Joseph Uriate y Borja, and Juan Ignacio de Urriza. There is also some correspondence between Alexander McGillivray and Carlos Howard. There are a few letters of Juan Manuel de Cagigal to Estevan Miró; Conde de Floridablanca to Wouves d'Arges; and Vizente Folch, Pensacola, to Marqués de Someruelos (no. 37, 1806).

Items of interest: 1726-1765, extracts of royal orders; 1765, decree regarding freedom of commerce (Oct. 16); 1766, inventory of plans existing in archives at New Orleans; inventory and valuation of royal buildings at Baliza (Mar. 21); 1776, various royal cédulas; 1779, declaration of war against England (July 8); ordenanza del Corso (July 15); 1779-1780, expedition against Pensacola; 1780, ff., commissions granted by B. de Galvez to military officials; passports granted to vessels to carry on trade; 1780, index of juntas held in Havana regarding expedition against Pensacola; 1781, expedition against Pensacola; copy of treaty between Spain and France (Oct.); 1782, cédula establishing national bank (July 19); 1783, preliminary articles of peace between France and England (Mar. 26); 1784, treaty at Mobile between Spain and Chickasaw nation (June 23); 1785, establishment of Bourbon County; 1793, navigation of Mississippi; 1797, inventory of archives of Baton Rouge; and, 1805-1812, index of letters of Cayetano Perez to various individuals.

Legajo 254. 1811-1814. Cargos y datas del Guarda Almacen de Apalache. A, 12.5 cm., 450 documents.

The legajo covers the years indicated, 1811 and 1814 each occupying nearly one-half the legajo, with only a few documents for 1812-1813. The documents are arranged in order.

The legajo consists of the following documents:

1811. Certificaciones de credito issued by the treasury department at San Marcos de Apalache (Jan. 1-Aug. 31).

1811, Sept. 1-Dec. 31. Vouchers of accounts of Felipe Prieto, guarda almacen of San Marcos de Apalache, including cargos of the Ramos de Fortificacion y Viveres, Artilleria, Hospital, and Indios, and index of accounts for the year.

1812-1813. Datas of Felipe Prieto.

1814. Documentos de cargos y datas of Felipe Prieto, guarda almacen of San Marcos de Apalache, for the Ramos de Indios, Hospital, Artilleria, and Fortificacion y Viveres.

Legajo 255. 1814. Cargos y datas del Guarda Almacen de Panzacola. A, 17 cm., 550 documents.

The legajo is composed entirely of the vouchers of Francisco Gonzalez de Tonte, guarda almacen of Pensacola, for the year 1814. These are the original vouchers of receipts and disbursements (comprobantes de cargos y datas) of supplies. The vouchers for the receipts are in a single folder for the entire year. Those for the disbursements are in folders for the months. These latter consist of the order on the royal storekeeper, with the receipt of person receiving the supplies; many are accompanied by detailed lists of the supplies, including especially lists of rations for the troops at Pensacola. The documents relating to Indian supplies (Ramo de Indios) are separated at the end of the legajo. The documentation is all in order.

Legajo 256. 1814-1815. Listas de revista de Panzacola. A, 23.5 cm., 1000 documents.

The documents cover all the months of the years 1814-1815. They are arranged in carpetas for each month, with an index of the regiments and companies.

The legajo is composed of the monthly listas de revista (muster rolls) of all the military forces stationed at Pensacola.

Legajo 257. 1818-1821. Revistas de Panzacola y Apalache. A, 18.5 cm., 500 documents.

The legajo consists of the following documents:

(a) 1818, Jan.-June; 1819, Feb.-1821, July. Listas de revista (monthly reports) of the commissary department of Pensacola.

(b) 1819-1821 (various months). Listas de revista of the troops at San Marcos de Apalache.

Legajo 258. 1820-1821. Cargos y datas del Guarda Almacen de Panzacola. A, 22 cm., 734 documents.

The legajo consists of the accounts of Felipe Prieto, guarda almacen of Pensacola, arranged in order, nearly all being in carpetas for the various months, as follows:

The legajo consists of certificates of indebtedness of the treasury of Louisiana issued at New Orleans from 1779 to 1784, for the various expenses of the government. All the certificates are copies. They are in carpetas for the several years, but are not all in order. Those of 1784 are numbered from 1 to 215, and are accompanied by vouchers itemizing the accounts which they cover.

There is also in this legajo the following important document: Apunte de los Papeles que se entregan en la Rl. Conta. para remitir al Supor. Trivunl. correspondientes a los años de 75, 76, 77, y 79. 12 pp.

Legajo 556. 1789-1805. Certificaciones de créditos. (Luisiana 69.) A, 23.5 cm., 1300 documents.

The legajo consists of three groups of documents, as follows:

(a) Copies of certificates of indebtedness of the treasury of Louisiana issued at New Orleans during the years 1789-1805, inclusive, for the various expenses of the government. Arranged in carpetas for each year.

(b) Copies of certificates of indebtedness which were paid. These were issued from Mar., 1800, to Oct., 1801. In carpetas for each year.

(c) Copies of certificates of indebtedness of the treasury of Louisiana issued at Nuevo Madrid during the years 1798-1804, for the various expenses of the post. They are numbered from 1 to 548, and are arranged in order.

Legajo 557. [1778, 1781-1804, 1806, 1810, 1811, 1816-1818]. Papeles varios. (Luisiana 70.) A, 10.5 cm., 375 documents.

The documents are scattered through the years indicated. They consist mainly of letters directed to the intendants of Louisiana, together with the drafts of the replies. The legajo consists of the following groups of documents, arranged in the order given:

(a) 1816-1817. Inventories of documents and legajos belonging to the intendency of Florida.

(b) 1784-1786. Certificates granted by Governor Miró to merchants of New Orleans, certifying their inclusion in the terms of the Real Cédula de Comercio of Jan. 22, 1782, in order that they might enjoy the privileges therein granted. 36 documents.

(c) Correspondence: 1796-1798, Pedro Aparici, Madrid, to intendant of Louisiana (drafts of replies); 1797-1800, Domingo Pavia, Havana, to Juan Ventura Morales and Ramon de Lopez y Angulo (drafts of replies); 1799, Juan de Araoz, Marqués de Someruelos, and Conde de Santa Clara, Havana, to Morales; 1789-1791, Lorenzo de Usóz and Francisco Machado, Madrid, to the intendant of Louisiana (drafts of replies); 1796, 1797, 1800, Antonio Cabrera, Cadiz, to Reales Oficiales de Luisiana (drafts of replies); 1790-1791, Marqués del Surco and Juan Rafael de Oza, Cadiz, to the intendant of Louisiana (drafts of replies); 1818, Luis de Onis, Washington, to J. V. Morales (drafts of replies); 1806, 1810, Francisco Maximiliano de Sn. Maxent, Mobile, to Morales (drafts of replies); 1811, Vizente Folch, Pensacola, to Morales (drafts of replies); 1798, Josef Pablo Valiente, Havana, to Morales (drafts of replies).

Subjects treated: Shortage of funds in Louisiana; discounts made from pay of recruits, for rations advanced in Spain; reclamations of the United States for damages arising from the suspension of the right of deposit at New Orleans. Most of the correspondence deals with routine matters of small importance.

Special items: 1778, tariff of duties levied on vessels engaged in free commerce (Feb. 16); 1781-1804, a book of accounts of Efectos descomisados and Depositos (badly damaged by polilla, nothing to indicate by whom or where kept); 1784, tables showing the provisions consumed by the Indians at the congress in Mobile (June-July); 1798, regulations for ports; 1799, regulations published by Juan Ventura Morales regarding concessions of land (tierras realengos, July, 36 articles, Spanish and French in parallel columns, printed).

Legajo 558. 1794. Certificaciones de créditos. (Luisiana 71.) A, 13.5 cm., 900 documents.

The legajo consists of copies of certificates of indebtedness issued during 1794, at Natchez, for all the expenses of the post. They are numbered from 858 to 1168, inclusive, and are in order. Where the accounts were paid the certificates are accompanied by vouchers either in the form of an adjustment of the account (ajuste) or a certified statement, and a receipt for the money; where not paid each is accompanied by an order for granting the certificate and a receipt for the same from the interested party.

Legajo 559. [1797-1799.] Certificaciones de créditos. (Luisiana 72.) A, 18 cm., 1030 documents.

The legajo consists of copies of certificates of indebtedness of the treasury of Louisiana issued during the years 1797-1799 at New Orleans, for the various expenses of the government. Each certificate has attached the receipt given by the person receiving the amount. The documents are numbered from 1 to 1030, inclusive, and are in order.

Legajo 560. 1775-1805, [1755, 1770]. Reales Ordenes en copias. (Luisiana 73.) A, 16 cm., 500 documents.

Documents were noted for the years 1755, 1770, 1776-1791, 1794-1805. They are fairly well in order.

The legajo is made up of reales órdenes directed to the intendants of Louisiana. They are in the form of copies made by the intendancy and sent to the Real Tribunal de Cuentas.

Subjects treated: Titles of governors; commissions of army officers; frauds in customs; cultivation of tobacco; money supplied to Oliver Pollock; project of Maison Rouge; 1786, Acadians, commerce; 1797, evacuation of posts ceded to the United States; expedition of the English against Spanish Illinois; salaries of priests; 1799, defense of the colony against the United States, demarcation of limits; 1802, retrocession of Louisiana to France; suppression of the projects of Nolan; approval of gifts made to Indians at St. Louis; and, 1805, approval of expenses incurred in the suppression of the revolt in the Feliciana district. There are also four indexes of reales órdenes in the legajo, two which do not cover orders in this bundle, and two which do, one covering the years 1784-1787 and the other 1797-1801.

Legajo 561. [1738-1792.] Papeles del Marquesado de Brinon. (Luisiana 74.) 24.2×35.5×10 cm., 50 documents.

The legajo is composed of documents respecting the estate of François Guillaume Pinel, Marqués de Brinon, of the island of Guadeloupe. All the documents are in French and include inventories, accounts of tutor of widow and son, etc., covering from 1738 to 1792. There is included the original title to the marquisate granted by Louis XV. in 1738. This legajo is evidently included in this collection by mistake, as no reason appears why it should be so included.

Legajo 562. 1789-1790. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 75.) A, 10 cm., 200 documents.

The documents cover the two years and are arranged in order. The legajo consists of letters, together with drafts of replies, of Estevan Miró, New Orleans, to Domingo Hernani and Antonio Moreno, and of Josef de Orúe, New Orleans, to Antonio Moreno.

The letters deal entirely with the subject of the finances of the colony and the enclosures, which form the greater part of the legajo, consist of accounts of rations supplied for the recruits for the regiments of Louisiana.

Legajo 563. [1765, 1777, 1780, 1785-1787, 1789-1791, 1796-1804.] Papeles varios. (Luisiana 76.) A, 8.5 cm., 300 documents.

The documents are scattered through the years indicated. They are not arranged in any order.

The legajo comprises groups of documents and special items as follows: 1785, contracts with the Real Hacienda; 1786, cargos of Francisco Evia; 1787, bonds; 1789-1791, contracts for chartering of vessels by the Real Hacienda (17); 1796, 1797, 1799, 1802-1804, miscellaneous certificates of Intendant Morales of New Orleans; 1798, 1799, 1802, 1803, permissions to purchase and to load vessels, granted by the intendency; 1799, lists of persons employed in Louisiana who have not given bond; 1799-1801, 1803, Juntas de Real Hacienda, New Orleans; 1801, licenses permitting vessels to sail; 1804, cortes de caxa (balance sheets).

Special items: 1765, Sept. 25, inventory of papers and effects of the contaduría of Florida; 1769, list of presents given to Indians at San Carlos el Principe de Asturias; 1777, bando of Bernardo de Galvez fixing the price of tobacco; 1778, book giving prices of articles of commerce with computation of duties; 1780, balance sheet of the contaduría for 1779, investigation regarding hurricane of Aug. 24; 1781, lists of vessels, officers, and men for the expedition against Pensacola; 1782, list of duties drawn up by the intendency; 1785, instructions for the custom house; 1800, bando of Lopez y Angulo regarding slave-trade; and, n. d., instructions for the guarda almacén of San Marcos de Apalache, Pablo de Paulis Palmero.

Legajo 580. 1796-1811. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 93.) B, 54 cm., 1400 letters.

The correspondence of the legajo covers the years 1796-1811, arranged in the order indicated below.

The legajo comprises the following series of correspondence:

(a) 1801-1803. Letters of José Garcia Capetillo and Tomas Allo, comandants of the posts at La Fourcha and Valiza, respectively, to the intendants of Louisiana, Juan Ventura Morales and Ramon de Lopez y Angulo. This series forms about one-half of the legajo; the letters are all numbered and fairly well in order. Most of these letters are merely notices of the entrance of vessels into the passes of the Mississippi, many of which are accompanied by the report and manifest of the cargo and the clearance papers of the ships.

(b) 1799-1805. Letters of Juan LaVallée, guarda almacén of Nuevo Madrid, to Morales and Lopez y Angulo, together with the drafts of their replies. These are numbered and arranged in two folders, labelled "Guarda Almacén, N. Madrid". The letters deal mainly with the subjects of finances and supplies for the post.

(c) 1796-1804. Letters of Pedro Philibert, Placaminas, to Morales and Lopez y Angulo, together with some drafts of replies. These are numbered and arranged in three folders, labelled "Gda. Almacén de Placaminas". Many of these letters are nothing more than notes of transmission of the many reports made to the intendants, including, especially, those of the supplies on hand and the lists of vessels entering and departing from the Mississippi. These reports are all present.

(d) 1797-1810. Letters of Juan Baptista Bermudez, Gilberto Leonard, Francisco Miranda, and Miguel Morales, all of Baton Rouge, to Juan Ventura Morales, together with some of the drafts of the replies. These letters relate entirely to routine matters connected with the royal warehouse at Baton Rouge.

(e) 1806-1811. Letters of Eulogio de Casas, Pensacola, to Juan Ventura Morales. These are routine letters of slight importance.

Legajo 581. 1788-1805. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 94.) B, 49 cm., 1200 documents.

The letters of this legajo are scattered through the years 1788-1805, but many months are not represented. The most complete years are 1789, 1790, 1795-1799. The documentation is not in any order. The legajo comprises letters of the guardas almacén of the various posts of Louisiana directed to the intendants, together with the drafts of the replies.

The legajo contains the following series of correspondence: (a) Letters to Martín Navarro from: 1788, Francisco de San Martín, Baliza. (b) To Estevan Miró from: 1788-1791, Francisco Candel, Pasa de Lutra; Miguel Eslava, Mobile; Francisco de San Martín, Baliza; 1789-1790, Juan Joseph Rodriguez, Natchez; 1790, Juan Errando, Pasa de Lutra. (c) To Baron de Carondelet from: 1792-1794, Cipriano Casabona, Placaminas; 1793, Juan Prieto, New Orleans; Lorenzo Vitrián, Apalache. (d) To Francisco Rendon from: 1794-1796, Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, Natchez; 1795-1796, Carlos de Grand Pré, Natchez. (e) To Juan Ventura Morales from: 1796, Juan Delavillebeuvre, Confederación; Ignacio Delinó, Nogales; Josef Deville Degoutin, San Fernando de las Barrancas; Miguel Eslava, Mobile; Vizente Folch, San Fernando; Juan Prieto, New Orleans; 1796-1797, Miguel Morales, Nogales; Miguel Solibellas, San Fernando and Nuevo Madrid; 1796-1798, Francisco Candel, Natchez; 1796-1799, Elias Beauregard, Nogales and Baton Rouge; Lorenzo Vitrián, Apalache; 1797, 1799, Antonio Ceulino, New Orleans; 1798, Joseph Maria de la Barba, New Orleans; 1798-1799, Miguel Morales, Baton Rouge; 1799, Eulogio de Casas, New Orleans; 1798, 1799, 1802, Eugenio Alvarez, St. Louis; 1802-1804, Manuel Gonzalez Moro, St. Louis. (f) To Joseph Maria de la Barba from: 1798, Juan Ventura Morales and Manuel Serrano, New Orleans (no replies). (g) To Manuel Serrano from: 1798, Joseph Maria de la Barba, New Orleans (no replies); 1798-1799, Miguel Morales, Baton Rouge (no replies); 1799, Lorenzo Vitrian, Apalache. (h) To Ramon de Lopez y Angulo from: 1800, Eugenio Alvarez, St. Louis; Antonio Ceulino, New Orleans; 1801, Miguel Eslava, Mobile; 1800-1801, Lorenzo Vitrian, Apalache.

The correspondence is mainly routine, dealing especially with supplies for the posts. Special subjects treated: 1789-1794, reports of vessels entering and leaving the Mississippi at Pasa de Lutra; 1792-1794, id. Placaminas; 1794-1796, affairs at Natchez, including Indian relations and reports on the hospital; establishment of the post at San Fernando de Barrancas; 1796, reports on the live stock belonging to the king at Mobile; and, 1798, supplies for the boundary expedition.

Legajo 582. 1800-1804. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 95.) B, 45 cm., 1500 documents.

The correspondence covers from Jan., 1800, to Sept., 1804, and is all arranged in order, in carpetas for each month. It comprises letters from the administrador de reales rentas (collector of the port) at New Orleans to the intendants, together with the drafts of the replies and one series of originals.

The legajo contains the following series:

(a) 1800, Jan.-1801, July. Josef Antonio de Hoa to Ramon de Lopez y Angulo.

(b) 1801, July-1804, Sept. Hoa to Juan Ventura Morales.

(c) 1802, Jan.-Dec. Juan Ventura Morales to Hoa, with drafts of replies.

The correspondence relates to the routine matters of the custom house of New Orleans, with considerable important material respecting commerce. There are monthly reports on the duties collected.

Special items: 1800, instructions regarding treatment of neutral vessels at Baliza (Feb. 21); 1802, list of licenses granted for purchase of vessels and cargoes of negroes (Sept. 4); proclamation of Intendant Morales suppressing right of introduction and deposit of American goods.

Legajo 583. 1780-1809. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 96.) A, 16.5 cm., 968 documents.

Documents were noted for the years 1780, 1782, 1783, 1788-1792, 1796-1799, 1801-1809. The legajo consists of correspondence between the Tribunal de Cuentas and intendants of Havana and the intendants of Louisiana. The letters of the two former are originals, while those of the latter are drafts or copies.

The correspondence of the Tribunal de Cuentas, forming three-fourths of the legajo, consists of the following series: 1780, Domingo Hernani and Miguel Arnaiz, Havana, to Estevan Miró; Miró to Hernani and Arnaiz; 1788-1791, Josef Pablo Valiente, Alfonso Maria de Cardenas, and Miguel Arnaiz, Havana, to Martin Navarro and Estevan Miró; Miró, New Orleans, to Hernani; 1790, Hernani and Arnaiz, Havana, to Miró; Miró, New Orleans, to Hernani and Arnaiz; 1791-1792, Hernani and Arnaiz to Miró and Baron de Carondelet; Miró and Carondelet to Hernani and Arnaiz; 1796-1798, Josef Pablo Valiente, Havana, to Juan Ventura Morales; Morales, New Orleans, to Valiente; Nicolas Sanchez Sirgado and Tadeo Jaudenes, Havana, to Intendente General de la Luisiana; Intendente de Luisiana to Sirgado and Jaudenes; Jaudenes to Intendente de Luisiana; Intendente de Luisiana to Jaudenes; 1801-1809, Jaudenes and Nicolas de Toledo, Havana, to Juan Ventura Morales; Fermin Hernandez, Nicolas Sanchez Sirgado, and Valentin Tio de Velasco, Havana, to Intendente de Luisiana.

The letters deal entirely with financial affairs. Many are simply acknowledgments of receipt of correspondence and documents transmitted to the Tribunal de Cuentas by the intendants of Louisiana.

The correspondence of the intendency of Havana consists of letters of, 1782-1783, Juan Ignacio de Urriza to Martin Navarro, with drafts of replies. These are routine letters dealing with matters connected with the treasury department.

The legajo comprises the following items:

(a) 1802-1808. Letters to Juan Ventura Morales from Manuel de Salcedo, New Orleans; Carlos de Grand Pré, Baton Rouge; and Ignacio Fernandez Velasco, Baton Rouge. This is a series of letters relating to land grants (concesiones de tierras), mixed as to dates but numbered consecutively up to 172 and all placed in order. Most of the letters are accompanied by the drafts of the replies, and some few drafts are numbered in the series. Most of the letters are from Grand Pré.

(b) 1793. Letters of Josef de Orúe, contador of New Orleans, to Baron de Carondelet, accompanied by the drafts of the replies of Carondelet. There is a carpeta for each month, and they are in order.

(c) 1803-1804. Manuel Salcedo to Juan Ventura Morales, together with the drafts of the replies. There are letters for all the months of 1803 and Jan. and Mar., 1804. The principal subjects treated are finances, slave-trade, transfer of Louisiana, the American agent among the Choctaws, and passports to vessels.

(d) 1808-1813. Juan Ventura Morales and Antonio Cabanas, Pensacola, to Manuel Armirez, treasurer for concluding the affairs of Louisiana, with the drafts of the replies by Armirez. There is an inventory of the letters written by the intendancy to Armirez, listing 87 letters, which includes this series. The letters relate wholly to financial matters. There is also a notebook containing the reports made by Armirez to the intendancy, covering the period from June, 1806, to Oct., 1811, during which time he was concluding the affairs of Louisiana.

(e) 1809. Vizente Folch, Juan Francisco Arniaud de Courville, and Juan Maria Perchet to Juan Ventura Morales. A few letters.

(f) 1809. Petitions directed to Intendant Morales, mainly for certificates attesting the validity of certificates of credit issued at New Orleans.

Legajo 592. 1801-1812. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 105.) A, 11 cm., 350 letters.

There are documents for the years 1788, 1789, 1795-1801, 1803-1812. They are in fairly good order. The legajo is composed of letters to the intendants of Louisiana and Florida, together with the replies.

The legajo consists of the following series of correspondence: (a) "Vera Cruz", 1801-1812. Letters to the intendants of New Orleans and Pensacola from the intendants and oficiales reales of Vera Cruz, including Francisco Antonio de Agudo, Bernardo José Benitez, Francisco de Boisselle, Antonio de Cardenas, Ciriaco Ceballos, Garcia Dabila, Pedro Telmo Landero, and Carlos de Urrutia. (b) "Mexico Libranzas", 1806-1812. Letters to the intendants of Louisiana from the archbishop-viceroy [Francisco Javier de Lizana y Beaumont], Pedro Garibay, Josef de Iturrigaray, and Francisco Venegas, all of Mexico. (c) Maria José de Alegria, of the Tribunal de Cuentas de Mexico, to Estevan Miró and Martin Navarro; Miguel Joseph de Azanza and Felix Berenguer de Marquina to the intendants of Louisiana; Nemesio Salcedo, Chihuahua, to Juan Ventura Morales; and Benito Perez, Merida de Yucatan, to Morales.

These letters deal almost entirely with the situado of Louisiana, many of them being drafts issued against the intendants of Louisiana.

(e) 1813, letters to Antonio Cabanas from Andres Monton and Vicente Ordozgoiti, both of Pensacola.

The letters deal with routine matters of slight importance.

Legajo 624. 1780-1812. Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 137.) A, 24 cm., 1100 letters.

The letters in this legajo cover the years 1780-1782, 1794-1796, 1801-1803, and 1805-1812.

The correspondence is composed of three series, two between the intendants of Havana and those of Louisiana, and the third between the captain general of Havana and the intendant of Louisiana. The series are as follows:

(a) 1780-1782. Letters of Juan Ignacio Urriza, intendant of Havana, to Martin Navarro, with the drafts of the replies by Navarro. These letters almost wholly deal with financial matters. Some of them treat of the expedition against Pensacola, supplies for Louisiana, and the disposition of the effects found at Mobile at the time of its capture. This series is badly disordered.

(b) This series is in a carpeta labelled, "Capitanía Gral. de la Provincia desde 13 de Julio de 1801 hasta 7 de Sepre. de 1812. Capt. Gral., 122 oficios; Intenda. 169 minutas. Legajo 97".

These are the letters of the Marqués de Someruelos to Juan Ventura Morales, with the drafts of the replies by the latter. They deal very largely with finances, especially the situado. Commerce and the difficulties of Morales with Joaquin de la Torre and Joaquin Osorno are also treated. The letters are arranged in carpetas for the years; there are none for 1804.

(c) 1794-1796. Letters of Josef Pablo Valiente, intendant of Havana, to Francisco Rendon, intendant of Louisiana. These deal almost entirely with finances, including the situado. Supplies and munitions for Louisiana, as well as the disastrous fire of Dec., 1794, including a list of the houses destroyed, are mentioned. This correspondence is arranged in carpetas for each year.

Legajo 625. [1777, 1779-1781, 1784-1787, 1789-1791, 1794-1795, 1799-1802, 1804, 1812-1814.] Correspondencia de oficio. (Luisiana 138.) A, 22 cm., 1100 letters.

The letters are scattered through the years indicated and are not arranged in any order. The legajo is composed of letters to the intendants of Louisiana, together with drafts of replies.

The legajo consists of the following series of correspondence: (a) 1781, 1784-1787. To Martin Navarro from Francisco Deuerges, Baton Rouge; Miguel Eslava, Mobile; Josef de Ezpeleta, Mobile; Pedro Favrot, Mobile; Vizente Folch, Baliza; Pedro Gallarreta, Madrid; Francisco Machado, Madrid; Juan Ventura Morales, New Orleans; Josef de Orúe, New Orleans; Bernardo Otero, New Orleans; and Francisco Rivas, Manchak. There are also a few documents dealing with the exchange of prisoners between Florida and Cuba.

The part relating to the United States is listed.

Legajo 1304. 1781-1782, [1783]. Correspondencia con el Gobernador de Providencia, Mobila, Panzacola, y Luisiana y con el Intendente de la Luisiana. (Cagigal 2; Capitanes Generales 256.) B, 15 cm., 225 documents.

The letters cover the period from June, 1781, to Jan., 1783. All relate to the United States except the letters from the governor of [New] Providence. They are arranged in order of the Havana numeration as given below. Most of the legajo is of 1782.

The legajo contains the following series of correspondence:

(a) 1782, Feb. 20-Nov. 19. Enrique Grimarest, Mobile, to Bernardo de Galvez (nos. 1-2), Juan Manuel de Cagigal (nos. 3-6, 8-13), and Juan Daban (no. 7).

(b) Arturo O'Neill, Pensacola, to Juan Manuel de Cagigal (nos. 1-56).

(c) 1781, May-1783, Jan. Letters of the governors of Louisiana to the captains general of Cuba, as follows: Pedro Piernas to Diego Joseph Navarro (nos. 1-3); Estevan Miró to Joseph Navarro (no. 4); Estevan Miró to Juan Manuel de Cagigal (nos. 5-30, 35, 36); Pedro Piernas to Juan Manuel Cagigal (nos. 31-34, 37); Francisco Bouligny to Juan Manuel Cagigal (nos. 38-50).

(d) 1781, June 20-1782, Sept. 25. Martin Navarro, intendant of Louisiana, to Joseph Navarro (no. 1), and Juan Manuel de Cagigal (nos. 2-4).

Some of the letters of the above groups are accompanied by drafts of replies.

Subjects treated by Grimarest: 1782, need of funds and supplies at Mobile; Indian affairs; reports on the state of the military organization. By O'Neill: 1781, troops and munitions needed for Pensacola; need of funds; English prisoners; 1782, shortage of funds and munitions; possible English attack on Pensacola; evacuation of Savannah. Many of O'Neill's letters deal with routine military matters. By governors of Louisiana: 1781, insurrection at Natchez; 1782, military reports; new fortifications at Natchez; exchange of prisoners with English; fear of English attack on Pensacola; and need of funds. Many of these letters deal with sentences on criminals, transfer of soldiers, and routine military matters.

All United States material listed.

(Cagigal 16; Capitanes Generales 270.) B, 13 cm., 65 documents.

The legajo consists of the above groups of documents, only the first relating to the United States. This consists of thirteen letters to Juan Manuel de Cagigal, captain general of Havana, from Samuel Huntington, Philadelphia; John Hancock, Boston; and Captain Alexander Gillon, South Carolina. Subjects: Personal matters and letters of recommendation.

Legajo 1319. 1781-1782. Comision de D. Franco. Rendon en Filadelfia. (Cagigal 17; Capitanes Generales 271.) B, 14 cm., 208 documents.

The letters cover the period from June 12, 1781, to Oct. 10, 1782. The legajo contains the letters of Francisco Rendon, Spanish agent in Philadelphia, to Juan Manuel Cagigal, captain general of Cuba. The letters are in order and numbered in the captaincy general from 1 to 77, some bearing original numbers in various series. There are also the drafts of the replies of Cagigal, which are usually nothing more than an acknowledgment of the receipt of correspondence.

The correspondence gives a very detailed account of the progress of the war between England and her colonies, including translations of letters, reports, documents, and gazettes.

Subjects treated: 1781, state of the war; reports of battles, captures, surrenders, losses, and movement of troops; capture of Pensacola; removal of English troops from Pensacola; paper money in American colonies; surrender of Cornwallis; plan of operations against South Carolina and East Florida; 1781-1782, funds for and expenses of mission of Rendon; 1782, plans of Americans and French for carrying on the war; arrival of Carleton in New York; finances of the colonies; plans of England for the war; state of commerce; the priest Thomas Hasset; progress of the war.

(Casas 37; Capitanes Generales 422.) B, 35 cm., 650 documents.

The first group consists of letters from the consuls of Spain in Philadelphia to the captains general of Cuba, as follows:

1790. Josef Ignacio de Viar to Domingo Cabello (19 letters).

1793-1794. Joseph de Jaudenes and Josef Ignacio de Viar to Luis de las Casas.

1795. Jaudenes to Casas.

Subjects: Notices from England; McGillivray; the French project against Louisiana; and M. Mitchell.

The second group consists of letters of the captains of partidos of Cuba to the captain general, with drafts of replies. Nothing relating to the United States.

Legajo 1483. 1790-1795. Reales Ordenes del Ministerio de la Guerra referentes á la Florida. (Casas 50; Capitanes Generales 435.) B, 31.5 cm., 800 documents.

The royal orders cover the period from Mar., 1790, to Nov., 1795, being arranged in carpetas for each month. The legajo consists of the orders received by Luis de las Casas, captain general of Cuba, in his capacity of captain general of Louisiana, from the ministers of war, Antonio Valdes (Mar.-Apr., 1790) and Conde de Campo Alange (Apr., 1790-Nov., 1795). Each order bears endorsed the date when it was transmitted to the governor of Louisiana, and many bear the date when the reply was sent to the court.

Subjects in general: General military orders; grants of licenses and discharges to officers of army; notices of promotions; remittance of commissions; construction of a fort at Walnut Hills; acknowledgment of receipt of notices regarding Indian affairs; Bowles; Indian congress at Natchez (1792); relations of the United States and the Indians.

Special items: 1793, precautions regarding relations with French; declaration of war against France (Mar.); separation of intendency from governorship in Louisiana (Oct.); printed copy of treaty with England (May 25); plan of defense for Louisiana; 1795, commission of brigadier for Gayoso de Lemos and of mariscal de campo for Carondelet.

Juntas celebradas sobre traslacion de Familias de la Isla de Sto. Domingo á Cuba.

(Casas 64; Capitanes Generales 449.) A, 18.5 cm., 350 documents.

The above items comprise half the legajo and the remainder is made up of memorials presented to the captain general by military convicts. In the section Memoriales de la Luisiana y Florida there are only twelve memorials, of slight importance. This is all the United States material present.

Legajo 1498. 1790-1796, [1788, 1789, 1797]. Pasaportes y Filiaciones.

Causas militares sin interés.

Causas civiles.

(Casas 65; Capitanes Generales 450.) A, 27.5 cm., 150 documents.

The extreme dates in the documents are 1788 and 1797. The legajo consists of the items indicated. The major portion consists of expedientes in civil, criminal, and military cases, among them being the following which relate to the United States:

(a) 1794, Nov. 13-29. Havana. Expediente: Informe sobre proceso formado contra Juan MacIntosh, Ricardo Lang, Guillermo Jones, Juan Pedro Wagnon, and Guillermo Plowden. 25 pp.

(b) 1793, Feb.-Apr. 11. San Agustin. 3er Baton. del Regto. de Infa. de Cuba. Diligencias obradas para justificar el Autor ó actores de una carta anonima que llevó el Administrador de Correos al Sor. Governor. de esta Plaza de San Agustin de la Florida la noche del 16 de febrero de 1793. 67 ff.

(c) 1796, Mar. 9-May 31. Havana. No. 6. Testimonio Criminal contra Dn. Ignacio Lopez Teniente de la compañía de infanteria Ligera de esta Plaza acusado de haver sido sorprendido por los enemigos hallandose de comandante en la Bateria de Sn. Nicolas situada en la Florida Oriental al paso del Rio de San Juan sobre el camino Real de la Georgia la noche del 9 de Julio de 1795. 108 ff.

There are also a few passports issued in New Orleans for Havana in 1794, and a certificate of the publication at Puerto Cabello of the treaty of 1795 between Spain and the United States, which includes a copy of the text of the treaty.

Legajo 1500. 1797, 1799, [1798]. Correspondencia con el Gobernador de Cuba.

Id. con el id. de las Floridas.

(Santa Clara 2; Capitanes Generales 562.) B, 33 cm., 600 documents.

The two groups are present, the first of which has nothing relating to the United States. The letters of group two cover all the months of 1797, and are arranged in order by months, the letters of each governor being together within the months. Most of the legajo is of letters of Carondelet and Gayoso de Lemos.

The United States material consists of the following series of correspondence, directed to the captains general of Cuba:

1797, Jan. 1. Baron de Carondelet, governor of Louisiana, to Luis de las Casas, nos. 972, 973. See legajos 1441-1444.

1797, Jan. 4-Dec. 8. Enrique White, governor of East Florida, to Conde de Santa Clara (few), and no. 87 (Aug. 7, 1798). See legajo 1501.

1797, Jan. 21-Aug. 5. Baron de Carondelet to Conde de Santa Clara, nos. 1-3, 21-25, 27-37, 39-43. Cf. legajo 153-2.

1797, Jan. 25. Diego de Vegas, commandant of San Marcos, to Luis de las Casas, no. 2.

1797, July 7-Oct. 19. Vizente Folch, commandant of Pensacola, to Conde de Santa Clara (few).

1797, Aug. 5-Dec. 19. Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, governor of Louisiana, to Conde de Santa Clara, nos. 1-18, 23-75, 77-81. Series continued in legajos 1501, 1502; see legajo 2354; cf. legajos 151-2, 153-2, 154-1.

Most of the above are accompanied by the drafts of the replies, and for most of the months there are a number of other drafts of the captain general to the governors of Louisiana and Florida.

Subjects treated by Carondelet: Situado; corsairs on the Gulf of Mexico; rumored invasion of upper Louisiana by the English from Canada. Many of the letters treat of discharged soldiers. By Gayoso de Lemos: Adjustment of difficulties in the execution of the treaty of limits with the United States; evacuation of Nogales and Natchez; measures to restrain the American advance; affairs at Natchez; situado. Many of the letters transmit military reports and petitions, and acknowledge the receipt of royal orders. By White: Defense of the province; need of ammunition. Most of the letters treat of convicts and discharged soldiers, and transmit military reports. The extra drafts of the captain general transmit reales órdenes and reales despachos.

Legajo 1501. 1798. Correspondencia con el Gobernador de las Floridas. (Santa Clara 3; Capitanes Generales 453.) B, 32 cm., 539 documents.

The letters cover the months of Jan. to Sept., 1798. They are arranged in order by months, the letters of each governor being together within the months. Some of the letters of Gayoso de Lemos are in duplicate. The larger part of the legajo is of letters of Gayoso de Lemos.

The legajo consists of letters to Conde de Santa Clara, captain general of Cuba, from:

1798, Jan. 23–Sept. 27. Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, governor of Louisiana, nos. 79-149, 151-203. Series continued in legajo 1502; see legajo 1500; cf. legajo 154-1.

1798, Apr. 4–Aug. 7. Enrique White, governor of East Florida, nos. 1-86, 88. Missing no. in legajo 1500; series continued in legajos 1502, 1550.

Some of the letters are accompanied by drafts of replies, and there are a few other drafts of the captain general to the governors.

Subjects treated by Gayoso de Lemos: Expulsion of Juan Delvaux from Louisiana; evacuation of Nogales and Natchez; visit of the Duke of Orleans (Louis Philippe) and his brothers; threatened attack on the commission of limits by the Choctaws; movements of the American troops; William Empson Hutings, vice-consul of the United States at New Orleans; Daniel W. Cox. By White: Situado. Many of the letters of both governors transmit petitions and military reports, acknowledge receipt of royal orders, and treat of routine military matters. The extra drafts of the captain general transmit royal orders.

Listed.

Legajo 1502. 1796-1799. (a) Correspondencia con el Gobernador de las Floridas.

(b) Id. con id. reservada.

(c) Id. con el Subinspector Grl.

(Santa Clara 4; Capitanes Generales 454.) B, 33 cm., 550 documents.

All of the items listed above are present; the last contains nothing relating to the United States. The letters relating to the United States are scattered through the period from Apr., 1797, to May, 1799. They are arranged by months within the two groups; the letters of each governor are together within the months.

The material relating to the United States consists of letters to Conde de Santa Clara, captain general of Cuba, from:

- (a) 1798, Oct. 10-1799, Apr. 6. Enrique White, governor of East Florida, nos. 89-159. Series continued in legajo 1550; see legajo 1501.
 1799, Feb. 15, Mar. 24. Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, governor of Louisiana, nos. 204, 205. See legajos 1500, 1501; cf. legajo 154-2.
 1799, Mar. 30-May 1. Francisco Boulogny, acting governor of Louisiana, nos. 207-249, 251-256. Cf. legajo 154-2.
- (b) 1797, Apr. 22. Baron de Carondelet, governor of Louisiana, reservada no. 1.
 1797, Sept. 24-1799, Mar. 16. Manuel Gayoso de Lemos, reservada and muy reservada nos. 2-5, 9-11, 13-19, 22-25, and 6-8 (apparently should be reservada). Cf. legajos 154-1, 154-2.

Some of the foregoing letters are accompanied by drafts of replies, and there are some other drafts of the captain general to the governors.

Subjects treated by White: 1798, situado; relations with the Americans on the Florida frontier; plan of the United States and England to seize Florida. By Carondelet: 1797, rumored attack on Louisiana by the English from Canada. By Gayoso de Lemos: 1797, events at Natchez; Ellicott; commission of Thomas Power; 1798, relations with Kentucky; designs of the United States against Louisiana; movements of United States troops; visit of the Duke of Orleans to Louisiana. Most of the letters of all the governors transmit petitions and military reports, and acknowledge the receipt of royal orders and correspondence. The extra drafts transmit reales órdenes.

(Santa Clara 7; Capitanes Generales 457.) B, 34 cm., 800 letters.

The material of this legajo relating to the history of the United States is to be found in items one and four of the list given above. Among the letters of the intendant of Havana is a package labelled "Luisiana y Florida". This package could not be examined, as it is formed into one solid mass by the work of the polilla. The correspondence of the bishop of Louisiana consists of a few letters of Luis de Peñalver to Conde de Santa Clara, captain general of Cuba, together with the drafts of the replies. These letters relate only to religious matters connected with the province of Louisiana.

The legajo is well organized, but is very badly damaged by polilla, about one-half of it being useless.

Legajo 1506. 1796-1799. (a) Corresponda. con el Comandante de Marina.

(b) Id. con id. relativo á la Luisiana y Florida.

(c) Id. con el Ministro Principal de Marina.

(e) Otro sobre composicion de los Cuarteles de Milicias de esta Ciudad. (Santa Clara 9; Capitanes Generales 459.) B, 33.5 cm., 600 documents.

The legajo consists of the above-indicated groups, the greater part being in items (a) and (b). The United States material is as follows:

(c) 1797-1799. Letters with drafts of replies from Vicente Risel, commandant of artillery of Louisiana and Florida, Havana, to Conde de Santa Clara. Regarding munitions for Louisiana and Florida.

(d) 1799. This expediente comprises a few letters of Cayetano Paveto, Havana, to Santa Clara.

Legajo 1511. 1796-1799. Corresponda. con varios Jefes y oficiales sueltos é individuos particulares de la Habana, Matanzas, y 4 Villas.

Id. con varios inds. de España.

Id. con empleados é individuos de España y de la Luisiana y Florida.

(Santa Clara 13; Capitanes Generales 463.) B, 34.5 cm., 700 documents.

Only a part of the last group, which is in a carpeta labelled "1797 y 98. De varios empleados y particulares de Luisiana y Florida; de Vice Consul de Sabanah y de otros", relates to the United States. This consists of letters to Conde de Santa Clara, captain general of Cuba, from Carlos Dehault Delassus, Nuevo Madrid; Carlos de Grand Pré, Baton Rouge; Miguel Gutierrez, New Orleans; Bartolomé Morales, St. Augustine; Joseph Noriega, Pensacola (with drafts of replies); Josef de Ortega, St. Augustine; Antonio Palao, Pensacola; Francisco de Paula Gelabert, Pensacola; Juan Maria Perchet, New Orleans; Juan Pierra, St. Augustine; Manuel Rengil, vice-consul, Savannah (with drafts of replies); and Joaquin de la Torre, Pensacola. They all deal with personal matters.

Legajo 1518. 1796-1799. Corresponda. con los Gobernadores de Caracas, Providencia, Trujillo.

Id. con los Consules de Boston, Charleston, Filadelfia.

Expediente relativo á las familias de Sto. Domingo.

(Sobre transportes de militares; Presidarios ultramarinos.)

(Santa Clara 20; Capitanes Generales 470.) B, 32 cm., 600 letters.

The major portion of the material relating to the United States consists of letters to the Conde de Santa Clara, from Carlos Martinez de Irujo, Philadelphia (Apr., 1796-Sept., 1799), with drafts of replies.

Subjects treated: Boundary between United States and Spanish territory; relations of the United States and France; projected attack of England upon Louisiana. There are also a few letters to Santa Clara, from Stephen Decatur; Diego Morphy, Charleston; Timothy Pickering (commerce of the United States and Cuba); and Isaac Phillips, U. S. frigate Baltimore. There are some documents relating to American vessels embargoed in the port of Havana.

Legajo 1524. 1796-1798. Reales Ordenes del Capitan Grl. de la Luisiana y Floridas, desde Octubre del 96 á Setibe. del 98. (Santa Clara 26; Capitanes Generales 476.) B, 31 cm., 250 documents.

The legajo consists entirely of royal orders signed by Juan Manuel de Alvarez and El Principe de la Paz, and directed to Conde de Santa Clara, captain general of Havana, in his capacity of captain general of Louisiana and the Floridas. They are all in order, most of them being in duplicate or triplicate.

Subjects treated: Military affairs; replies to petitions of officials; notices of the elevation in rank or transfer of officials in Louisiana and Florida; appointment of officials; acknowledgment of receipt of papers in cases against soldiers; replies to and acknowledgment of receipt of letters of the governors of Louisiana and Florida.

Legajo 1525. 1792, 1797-1799. Reales Ordenes al Capitan. Grl. de la Luisiana y Floridas.

Oficios pasados al Ministerio de la Guerra y al Capitan. Grl. de la Luisiana y Floridas.

 (b) Espediente con el Superintendente de Tabacos.

(c) Corresponda. con el Intendente y Subinspector de Panzacola Sor. Zuñiga.

(Apodaca 29; Capitanes Generales 765.) B, 26.5 cm., 450 documents.

The legajo contains the items indicated above. The United States material is found in the following items:

(a) 1815, Jan.-1816, June. Letters of Rafael de Arze y Albalá, sub-inspector of artillery, to Juan Ruiz de Apodaca, captain general of Cuba, with drafts of replies. There are a very few references to the Floridas here.

(c) 1812, July-Aug. 20. Letters of Mauricio de Zuñiga, Pensacola, to Apodaca, nos. 1-18. These letters deal entirely with military affairs, including relaciones de estado de fuerza, propuestas, relaciones de milicias, and relaciones de premios. Also many petitions of officials transmitted to the captain general are enclosed.

Legajo 1814. 1812-1816. Correspondencia con el Director de Ingenieros.

Comision dada á D. Anastacio Arango y D. Vicente Pintado sobre Panzacola.

Sueldos y licencias del Corl. D. Anastacio Arango.

Legajo 1865. 1812-1816. Causas Militares: Sumaria contra varios oficiales juzgados por la entrega del Fuerte de la Movila á los E. U.

Existen otras varias de individuos de poco interes.

(Apodaca 81; Capitanes Generales 817.) A, 25 cm.

Besides several cases of no importance relating to minor offenses of officials in Havana, there are the two following documents relating to the United States:

(a) 1813, May 2-1815, June 10. Pensacola and Havana. Testimonio. Año 1813. Criminal contra D. Cayetano Perez, D. Franco. Morejon, D. Juan José Bon, D. Luis Pana, Capn. Tentés. y Subte. de Regimto. Infta. de la Luisiana; D. Migl. Peñeiro, Tente. del de Puebla, y D. Juan Esteves de igual clase del Rl. Cuerpo de Artilleria, acusados de haver abandonado el Fuerte Carlota de la Mobila a las Tropas de los Estados Unidos de America el dia quince de Abril. 762 ff., copy.

This is the first part of the trial, but added to the folios of the second does not equal the number of folios indicated in the certificate at the end of the latter, so it seems that they are parts of distinct copies.

(b) 1815, July 5-1821, Jan. 18. Havana. 2a Pieza. De los autos seguidos sobre la entrega del Fuerte de la Mobila á las tropas de los Estados Unidos de America. 512 ff., certified copy.

The certificate states that the copy consists of 1231 folios, and that the original was given to the captain general to be sent to the court. Evidently not a part of the same copy as (a).

Legajo 1867. 1812-1816. Correspondencia duplicada á la Corte que no ha tenido curso.

Representaciones á la Corte.

Legajo 1887. 1816-1818, [1819]. Corresponda. con el Comandte. General de Marina.

Hay un espediente sobre fianzas.

(Cienfuegos 20; Capitanes Generales 839.) B, 26 cm., 550 documents.

Most of the legajo consists of letters from Antonio Ventura Bocarro, director de ingenieros, Havana, to José Cienfuegos, captain general of Cuba, with drafts of replies (July, 1816-Aug., 1819). There are a few incidental references to Pensacola and St. Augustine in this series.

There are also a few letters to Cienfuegos, with drafts of replies, from the commandants of Pensacola as intendants, as follows: 1816, Mauricio de Zuñiga (7 letters); Francisco Maximiliano de San Maxent (3 letters); 1817, José Masot (nos. 169, 208, 213, 280, 283, and one other letter; see legajo 1875). Regarding supplies for Pensacola.

Legajo 1889. 1818-1819, [1816, 1817]. Corresponda. con el Subinspector de Artilleria.

Varios estados de Fuerza Militar de Panzacola.

(Cienfuegos 22; Capitanes Generales 841.) B, 27 cm., 600 documents.

Nearly the whole legajo consists of the correspondence of the subinspector of artillery and the captain general, José Cienfuegos (Jan., 1818-Aug., 1819). Nothing relating to the United States was noted here.

There are a few Estados de Fuerza Militar (reports on the military forces) of Pensacola for 1816-1817.

Legajo 1895. 1816-1819. (a) Corresponda. con los Jefes, oficiales y varios individuos de la Habana, Matanzas, Bayamo, y Puerto Príncipe.

Espediente sobre el embarco de Tropas á Nueva España.

(Cienfuegos 31; Capitanes Generales 850.) B, 31 cm., 550 documents.

The legajo consists of the indicated items, two-thirds being of the second, which relates to the United States. This section comprises letters, with drafts of replies, from Luis de Onís, Spanish minister, Philadelphia, to José Cienfuegos, captain general of Cuba (May, 1816–Dec., 1818).

Subjects treated: Picornell, occupation of Florida by United States troops under Jackson; 1817, projects of Gregor McGregor; 1818, occupation of Isla Amalia; war against the Seminoles by the United States; seizure of Pensacola by Jackson. There are also: 1816, a defense of José Alvarez de Toledo, for returning to allegiance of Spain, which also points out the evils in insurrection; 1818, documents relating to the investigation of affairs in Mexico made by Felipe Fatio, consul of Spain at New Orleans; and papers referring to commission given to Luis Noeli to investigate conduct and take residencia of Fatio.

Legajo 1900. 1816–1819. Corresponda. con los Embajadores de Londres y Paris.

Corresponda. con los Consules de Na. Orleans, Charleston, Boston, Na. York, Baltimore y Rio Janeiro.

(Cienfuegos 33; Capitanes Generales 852.) B, 38.5 cm., 750 documents.

The legajo consists of letters, with drafts of replies, from Spanish ambassadors and consuls to José Cienfuegos, captain general of Cuba. Most of the letters are from the consul at New Orleans. They are arranged in order as given in the list below.

The following series of letters to Cienfuegos form the legajo:

Ambassadors:

1818, June–1819, May. Duque de San Carlos, London. Attitude of England to revolutionary movements in America, including a number of printed proclamations.

1818, June–1819, May. Duque de Fernan Nuñez, Paris (few).

Consuls of Spain:

1817–1818. Antonio Argote Villalobos, Charleston. 1817, capture of Amelia Island and plan of attack on St. Augustine by Gregor McGregor; 1818, possession of Amelia Island by the United States.

1816–1818. Juan Stoughton, Boston. Transmits copy of message of Monroe of Nov. 17, 1818.

1816–1817. Andres Villalba, Rio Janeiro.

1816–1818. Pablo Chacon, Baltimore.

1817. Tomas Stoughton, New York.

1817, Mar.–1819, July. Felipe Fatio, New Orleans. Subjects: 1817, revolutionary movements in Mexico; measures taken for the capture of leaders and the suppressing of movement against Mexico in the United States; corsairs; Americans in the expedition of Mina; Monroe's message of Dec. 2, 1817; 1818, surrender of Barrancas and Pensacola to Jackson; capture of Apalache by the Americans; return of these posts to the Spanish; war of the United States against the Indians; and invasion of Mexico by General Lallemand.

1816, June–1817, Feb. Diego Morphy, New Orleans. Subjects: General Mina; new settlements at Matagorda and Galveztown; and pirates. (Many clippings enclosed.)

Special printed documents and clippings: 1817, regarding Xavier Mina's expedition to Mexico, including Boletín I. de la División Auxiliar de la República Mexicana (Apr. 25, contains life of Mina), Cancion Patriotica, and Proclamación de Xavier Mina a los Soldados Españoles y Americanos del Rey Fernando; proclamations of Gregor McGregor at Amelia Island (in Charleston City Gazette and Commercial Daily Advertiser, July 12); 1818, proposals of Commandant Masot of Barrancas for its surrender to Jackson (May 28); proclamation of Jackson on taking possession of West Florida (May 29); Manifiesto del General D. Mariano de Renobales á sus Compañeros de armas y Compatriotas (Sept. 10).

Legajo 1910. 1816-1819. (a) Ordenes del Secretario del Supremo Consejo de Indias.

(b) Oficios al Secretario del Consejo de Indias y cartas reservadas de dicho Secretario.

(c) Oficios al Secretario del Consejo de Guerra.

(d) Expediente sobre declarar Villa al Pueblo de Sn. Julian de Guines.

(e) Expediente sobre Gracia concedida al Duque de Magore sobre terrenos en la Florida Oriental.

(f) Expediente sobre que en los Conventos de Religiosos y Religiosas se establezcan escuelas de niños y niñas.

(Cienfuegos 43; Capitanes Generales 862.) B, 29 cm., 600 documents.

The documents are scattered over the years indicated and are arranged in order. All the above items except (e) are present. The major portion of the legajo is formed of items (a) and (c), in which are found a very few references to the United States.

Legajo 1911. 1816-1817. Reales ordenes del Ministro de la Guerra referentes á las Floridas. (Cienfuegos 44; Capitanes Generales 863.) B, 39 cm., 500 documents.

The legajo consists of royal orders directed to José de Cienfuegos as captain general of the two Floridas, by the ministers of war, as follows:

1816, Jan.-1817, June. Marqués de Campo Sagrado.

1817, June-Dec. Francisco de Eguia.

These are the general military orders, all being applicable to the Floridas, but few of them being specifically for those regions. One order of importance is that approving the sentence pronounced against the officials in charge at Baton Rouge when it was surrendered to the Americans (Sept., 1816). Cf. legajo 1865.

Legajo 1912. 1818-1819. Reales ordenes del Ministerio de la Guerra referentes á las Floridas. (Cienfuegos 45; Capitanes Generales 864.) B, 15.5 cm., 200 documents.

The documents cover the period from Jan., 1818, to June, 1819. The legajo consists of royal orders directed to José Cienfuegos as captain general of the two Floridas, by the ministers of war. They were in turn transmitted by Cienfuegos to the governors and commandants in Florida.

These are the general military orders applicable to the Floridas, but few make specific mention of those regions. Many relate to the petitions of officials, and many are general orders regarding the revolutionary movements in America.

Special orders: 1818, commission to José Masot as governor of Pensacola (Mar. 6); and occupation of Amelia Island by the Americans (Apr.).

Legajo 1928. 1816-1817, [1815, 1818]. Corresponda. con el Corl. Masot Comdte. de Panzacola. (Cienfuegos 61; Capitanes Generales 880.) B, 28.5 cm., 700 documents.

Most of the documents are for the period from Dec., 1816, to Dec., 1817, there being only a few for Mar., 1815, and Feb. and Mar., 1818. This legajo evidently belongs to the Florida Occidental group and is included in the Capitanes Generales series by mistake. The documents are not in order.

The legajo consists of the following series of correspondence: (a) To José Masot, commandant of Pensacola, from: Pedro de Alba, Pensacola; Ignacio Balderas, Barrancas; Francisco Bellestre, Barrancas; Francisco de Caso y Luengo, Apalache; Segundo Correa, Pensacola; Luis Daunoy, Pensacola; Nicolas Definiels, Pensacola; Marcos DeVilliers, Barrancas; Felipe Fatio, New Orleans; Benigno Garcia Calderon, Pensacola; Henrique de Grand Pré, Pensacola; Arnaldo Guillemard, Puesto de Observacion del Rio Perdido; Carlos Hernandez, Pensacola; Juan Innerarity, Pensacola; Francisco de Leiva, Pensacola; Juan Miguel de Losada, Pensacola; Francisco Martinez, Pensacola; Antonio Molina, Pensacola; Fernando Morand, Barrancas; Diego Morphy, New Orleans; Luis de Onis, Philadelphia and Washington; Manuel Ordoñez, Barrancas; Francisco Palmes, Pensacola; Luis Piernas, Pensacola; Vicente Sebastian Pintado, Pensacola; Bernardo Prieto, Rio Perdido; Manuel de los Rios, Pensacola; Juan de la Rua, Pensacola; Juan Ruiz, Pensacola; Francisco Maximiliano de Sn.
